OUR 55TH YEAR — 10¢ PER COPY — SIKESTON, SCOTT COUNTY, MISSOURI, FRIDAY, MAY 28, 1965 — NUMBER 208

"Sam" the five-year old Labrador dog, busy digging worms for his master, Kenneth Whittington of East Prairie. The animal can pick out a spot and dig all the worms needed. He is especially fond of children, and will guard them at every opportunity.

Smart Dog Picks Owner

EAST PRAIRIE--This deals with a dog wanting to choose his own friend--an adult.

The 104-pound Labrador, now five years old, looks like any other dog, but "Sam" is more than that to his owners, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Whittington and son, Sidney Earl, 14, who live at 706 South Grand.

Sam once belonged to Bill Winchester, an auto dealer, who obtained the dog when a pup of six weeks from a conservation agent. The Winchesters kept the dog for two years. There the story begins.

The dog took a fancy to Mr. Whittington on hunting trips and visits to the home three years ago, and soon followed him everywhere. The family became attached to him.

This animal is as playful as a kitten or any family pet with children. Let an adult come near a child to do him harm and he will have a battle on his hands.

Sam, on many occasions, has pushed children away from water, grabbing an arm and pulling them away. On the Fourth of July, he has picked up live cherry bombs thrown near children and carried them away. A few have exploded in his mouth.

He is an expert swimmer as are all Labradors. He will dive in water at a height of 15 feet or more, go to the bottom, and if after fish, snares one. Sam has an otter-like tail which operates while swimming. He can swim for hours and will do his master's bidding in water.

He lost one water battle with a beaver but only because his foe went to the bottom for his protection.

A full grown 30-pound bobcat lost in a battle with Sam, and in five minutes the animal was killed. The dog came out with two minor scratches. He's never failed to subdue any enemy of his size.

He is a neighborhood playmate. Last week children painted the bottom of his feet and tail white, and drew circles around his eyes with white paint to show him off. He took it all in stride and joined them in football. He'll have them throw out a stick and from a starting line he'll rush through the whole group of boys to the other end of the playing field. No boy is able to tackle him.

Is he a hunting dog? Ask anyone in East Prairie who has hunted with him. He is a fine game retriever.

When the telephone rings, and Mr. Whittington is called to the phone, the dog is right there wondering what the next assignment will be. If he goes to the car, the dog follows. Once the family left home for three days and the dog kept the house in perfect order.

He will go fishing at the drop of a hat. If his owner needs fishing worms, he tells Sam to dig a can full. The dog will do it and after he has scratched out several dozen he expects the owner to put them in a can.

Sam loves chocolate cookies and candy. Don't mention either to him because he'll take anyone by the hand and walk anywhere to get either. He doesn't like other flavors.

Monday Is Holiday

A long weekend will generally be experienced by Sikeston residents since Monday is to be observed as a national holiday for Memorial Day by all businesses and government offices, including all City offices. However, the Division of Employment Security will have at it's office a skeleton crew. This is to be statewide.

All County offices are to be closed on Monday, but they will reopen Tuesday as usual.

Dog Bites Child Then Falls Dead

MALDEN--A small child was bitten by a dog that died immediately after inflicting the wound, according to Chief of Police R. M. Thompson. The incident occurred on North Kimbal Street.

Thompson said that the dead animal was sent to the state department of health at Poplar Bluff for examination. The lab report revealed that the dog did not have rabies.

City Council Meets

In a special meeting of the City Council yesterday, Bill Sikes, Director of Multi-Occupational Training courses, confronted the Council with the problem of housing that the Manpower Development Act is going to create when training starts here next month.

He said, after pointing out how fortunate Sikeston was to have a program such as this and that it was the first of its kind in the state, "That this program will span over a period of 18 months and will blanket out over a 12 to 14 county area."

He then stated, "It is expected that approximately 400 persons will come to Sikeston to take advantage of the program, but they all won't come at the same time. Approximately 50 per cent of the trainees will live in Sikeston." When asked by the Council just how many would be here at one time, he answered by saying, "Of course I can't guarantee it, but we don't expect 250 at the same time."

He then pointed out that he knew it wasn't a problem of the City Council, but he would like to have their cooperation.

He then said, "This program is going to bring $1,000,000 to Sikeston and that it should be a community project involving possibly the offices of the City Welfare, State Welfare and the Ministerial Alliance. It is not a problem of the school or the Employment Security Division."

He was then asked by the Council if the people coming to take the training would be mostly single or married people. In answer he replied, "Mostly it will be married people, but they will come without their families in most instances." He then added, "Training periods will vary widely for the trainees, depending upon how an individual has to be taught."

From there the council took up its regular business and decided to purchase ½ acre of land for park facilities from John Hux on S. Prairie and Edmundson for $3,000. This is in answer to the growing demands being put on parks in the City.

Also, the Council resolved to apply for a $10,000 State Grant for improvements of municipal airport facilities. This $10,000 is to be matched dollar per dollar by the Federal Government.

Three Semo Men Jailed

MEMPHIS, Tenn. AP--U. S. District Judge Marion S. Boyd Thursday ordered three southeast Missouri men jailed "in default of proper bonds of $50,000 each" on charges of attempted extortion.

Defendants are Walter Richarson, Jr., 38, of Portageville; and William R. McIntosh, 45, and Dale Wilson, 23, both of Sikeston associated with Wil-Mar Advertising Co., of Sikeston.

They were indicted May 18, charged with calling William Tanner, president of Pepper Sound Studios, Inc., in Memphis and demanding $5,000 to avoid bodily harm to Tanner's brother, Henry Faye Tanner.

The judge entered pleas of innocent for the men and urged them to obtain an attorney in time for trial June 16.

Mounted Patrol Begin Practice

The 20 members of the Semo Shrine Horse Patrol met for the first time this year to begin riding in preparation for their Semo Shrine Mounted Patrol Horse Show to be held May 31.

They have two new members this year, Clint Elledge and Weston Henry. It is announced that the patrol is to practice on Tuesday nights at their barn across from the Country Club.

As young as this new season is, they have already scheduled several events throughout Southeast Missouri and surrounding states. In Sikeston they are to participate in the Cotton Carnival and Rodeo Parades.

The purpose of the Shrine is to help send crippled children to the crippled children's hospital in St. Louis. The statewide organization has helped 1,137 youngsters get in the hospital for treatment this year.

Three Injured In Four Car Pile-up

In the only injuries reported in district highway accidents, three were in a single chain reaction at the Cane Creek bridge Thursday on Highway 67, eight miles south of Poplar Bluff. It was while road striping was being done when the first car, a 1963 Chevrolet, driven by Richard Nelson, St. Louis, had stopped, when a 1965 Chevrolet driven by Ira Sheppard, Paw Paw, Mich., stopped behind him. Donald Stautner, 33, Brookfield, Wisc., was the third car to make a stop, when his car was struck in the rear by Robert Haynes, York, Ill.

Three members of the Stautner family who received cuts and bruises were, Ruth Stautner, 21, and their two children, Donald 6 and Frank 5.

Farmers Can Expect Official Visits In New Madrid County

NEW MADRID: -- Farmers, county wide, can expect an official visit soon from one of twenty New Madrid County men who began work May 24 as reporters for the Agricultural Stabilization Committee Office located in New Madrid.

As reporters, these men will be measuring and computing acreages to insure compliance with the government's Feed Grain Program, including corn and diverted acres, and cotton allotments.

Eight or ten other reporters, along with five full-time computers, will join the original group during the first week of June, according to June C. Ransburgh, Chairman of the New Madrid County ASC.

Ransburgh said that the duration of this particular work will vary; however, first measure of every farm in the county should be completed by the end of June.

Following completion of the first measure, several farms will be re-measured. Those farms will include those which may have been overplanted and which may require a re-check to make sure that excess acres have been plowed under. Individual farmers, too, may request a re-measure.

When queried about who makes up his reporter force, Ransburgh replied that the county's thirty-three farm elected committee members are given the opportunity to fill these jobs first. Then other farm people are contacted as a source. Finally, teachers and college students who wish to work during summer vacations finish filling out the reporter ranks. This last group makes up a sizeable part of his workers, as the reporters are needed just when farm people are busiest with their own work.

Ransburgh said that regulations of the various acreage programs are quite complicated and emphasized that maturity of judgment is now a prime requisite for a reporter. Another factor that now makes measuring harder than normal is that many county farms have been cut in half (many at angles) by the construction of Interstate Highway 55 which is now in progress.

Earnings of reporters will vary, according to the chairman, because some will work for a longer period than others. However, those who work from June 1 until the end of the month can expect to earn in the neighborhood of $400. Reporters are paid at the rate of $18.50 per day and they work a six day week.

Max Thompson of New Madrid Route is the reporters' immediate supervisor. Joe Haubold of Marston is the assistant supervisor. Both are farmers.

Gehlert Speaks About 'Pencils'

By Dan Whittle
Daily Standard Staff

It has been said that the electronic computer has a more beneficial potential for the human race than any other invention in history . . . if man "instructs" the computer to perform usefully, that is.

The mysteries of converting business information into language a computer can understand were for the most part solved in a speech given by Robert W. Gehlert, vice president of marketing for Vance - Whitworth, Incorporated, before an interested group of 35 persons at the noontime meeting of the Sikeston Chamber of Commerce yesterday at the Holiday Inn.

As explained by Gehlert, the key to the whole thing is the right Input Device. And for the laymen present, Gehlert defined an Input Device as some kind of equipment which allows business data (orders, receipts, payments) to be communicated with a computer system.

"An Input Device, to be successful, must take on many of the characteristics of a pencil . . . must in effect be a pencil to the computer," he pointed out. "That means it should be simple and easy to operate, should be capable of being used on the spot where recording is needed," he said. "And another characteristic of the pencil an Input Device should possess is that it must be applicable to any type of business operation."

He continued, "The pencil has been widely accepted because it allows you to see what you are recording or communicating. It allows you to verify the accuracy of what was recorded.

"And this brings us to another feature which I have found to be the one flaw in the design of a common pencil. The erasers are too small. The 'pencil to the computer' must have the ability to remove errors," he said.

Robert W. Gehlert

In summary, Gehlert pointed out that the ideal Input Device for computers must have these characteristics: (1) simple and easy to operate (2) low cost for use where information is generated (3) applicable to any business operation and (4) visual recording of what was sent to the computer (5) control total capability for accuracy (6) capability of removing erroneous recordings or erasing.

Fortunately, such an Input Device is available for the world of business. And as members of the C of C audience suspected all along, it was developed and is being marketed successfully by Vance - Whitworth. Said Device may also soon be a source of civic pride, for Vance-Whitworth plans to manufacture this equipment here, when plans have been completed to move major portions of the firm here this summer.

Helicopters Collide

SAIGON, South Viet Nam AP -- Two U. S. Army helicopters collided in the air and crashed in flames today at the Bien Hoa Air Base. Nine Americans were killed and two seriously injured.

A 10th American, a Marine, was killed when Viet Cong guerrillas and U. S. Marines fought a grenade battle before dawn six miles west of the Chu Lai beachhead 52 miles south of Da Nang. It was the first serious attack on the Marine defenses at Chu Lai, where U. S. Navy Seabees are building a jet airstrip.

Ten Marines were wounded, two of them seriously. Six Viet Cong bodies were found and a wounded guerrilla was captured.

The two helicopters collided about 50 to 100 feet up and crashed in an open patch of ground 200 yards from the helicopter area of the Bien Hoa base 15 miles north of Saigon. Both were troop-carrying craft attached to the 118th U.S. Army Helicopter Company.

Eight of the occupants were killed outright and the ninth died three hours later in the base hospital.

Aviators from the company rushed to the scene and pulled the three injured men from the wreckage. Wreckage was strewn over a large area.

First reports said one of the helicopters was returning from Saigon with an Army helicopter crewman who had been injured several days ago in the foot by a Viet Cong bullet. He was returning to his unit.

The other ship reportedly was leaving the helicopter pad outside the Vietnamese 3rd Corps headquarters.

"They met at the same place," an eyewitness said.

The helicopters collided about 50 feet up. One burst into flames. The other appeared to break up in the air, then caught fire.

On May 16 a series of explosions smashed through lines of U.S. and Vietnamese bombers at the other side of the Bien Hoa base, killing 26 Americans and injuring more than 100. U.S. officials said that also was an accident, but an investigation is still under way.

Johnson Orders Withdrawal of 1700

By FRANK CORMIER

WACO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson announced today he is issuing orders to withdraw 1,700 American military men from the Dominican Republic.

But he warned at the same time that in the hemisphere "we can expect more efforts at triumph by terror and conquest through chaos." And he called for "new international machinery geared to meet fast-moving events."

In an address prepared for commencement exercises at Baylor University — once headed by his great grandfather George Washington Baines — Johnson said, "When forces of freedom move slowly —whether on political, economic or military fronts — the forces of slavery and subversion move rapidly and decisively."

The president said that one of the lessons learned during the past four weeks in the Dominican Republic is that "it is clear that we need new international machinery geared to meet fast-moving events."

"When hours can decide the fate of generations, the moment of decision must become the moment of action," he added.

The 1,700 troops the President said are being withdrawn are in addition to 1,600 he said have been withdrawn over the past two days.

And Johnson said he has instructed Lt. Gen. Bruce Palmer, commander of U.S. foces in the Dominican Republic, "to discuss possible further withdrawals" with Gen. Hugo Panasco Alvim of Brazil, commander of the Organization of American States forces in the revolt-torn Caribbean country.

The President has been criticized in some quarters for not advising other hemisphere nations before announcing his decision April 28 to send military forces to the Dominican Republic.

Today, in discussing the Communist threat within the hemisphere, Johnson said:

"We know that when a Communist group seeks to exploit misery, the entire free Inter-American system is put in deadly danger. We also know that these dangers can be found today in many of our lands. There is no trouble anywhere these evil forces will not try to turn to their advantage. We can expect more efforts at triumph by terror and conquest through chaos."

The President, speaking of U.S. goals, said, "We want for the peoples of this hemisphere only what they want for themselves — liberty, justice, dignity, a better life."

Johnson said that more than a few agitators were needed "to bring on the tragic and cruel

Report From Photographer

EDITOR'S NOTE — Troops of the 173rd Airborne Brigade landed in South Viet Nam early this month. Pulitzer Prize-wining AP photographer Horst Faas accompanied a battalion on its first action against the Viet Cong. Here is his report.

By HORST FAAS
AP Photographer

VUNG TAU, South Viet Nam (AP) — Girls in bikinis were sunning and surfing as the three companies of paratroopers flew over this seaside resort. Artillery and bombs sounded sharply 15 miles away, softening up the landing zone.

The 173rd Airborne Brigade had landed in Viet Nam early this month. On Wednesday helicopters carried the 503rd Regiment's 1st Battalion into its first action against the Viet Cong. It was a frustrating experience with an elusive human enemy and relentless natural foes.

Sniper fire greeted the helicopters as they landed, then the guerrillas faded away. The men moved off in steaming tropical heat, two companies clambering up and over huge boulders toward the hills, the third moving through the valleys.

One main sprained an ankle. "Sure, I can go on. I'm airborne," he told his commander and hobbled off.

Throughout the afternoon the troops fought climbing jungle vines and thorns. Mosquitoes attacked in swarms. Faces, hands and arms were streaked with blood from bites and the snags of thorns and vines. But at times the vines came in handy as the heavily loaded troops pulled themselves up sheer rocks and cliffs.

A heavy tropical rain set in at dark, making things cooler but making the bush and the rocks slippery. The paratroopers still wore smooth-soled jump boots though they hope to be issued cleated jungle boots soon.

They found an abandoned Viet Cong lookout with an excellent view of the airfield at Vung Tau and the highway leading from the town. They blew up the post and moved on up into the hills, struggling over the rain-slick rocks with their 50-caliber machine guns, bazookas, mortars and ammunition.

They bedded down for the night in a downpour. The day's pouring sweat turned into shivering cold. No fires or smoking were permitted. A helicopter hovered over a hacked out clearing and dropped C rations and jerry cans of water.

During the night the Americans could hear Vietnamese artillery firing near by and one firefight between Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

At daybreak they moved off again and saw a man perched in the trees, peering through foliage apparently as an observer for the Viet Cong. The troops held their fire, under orders not to open up unless they could see a weapon. He vanished in the thick bush.

Hospital Service Being Disrupted

LOS ANGELES AP -- A county official says resident physicians and interns at Los Angeles County General Hospital, miffed by a pay raise of less than $10 a month, are flooding the huge facility with patients.

He says the doctors are calling it a "heal in."

County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, who said the protest was described to his office Thursday, called it "a deliberate plan to disrupt good hospital service."

Hahn said the strategy among the 200 interns and 350 physicians was to admit as many patients as possible, and at the same time, retain patients longer than normally would be the case.

Dr. Richard Boggs, president of the intern-resident protest group, declined to discuss the situation with newsmen.

Hospital administrators said there was a 25 per cent increase in admissions Thursday and a 40 per cent drop in discharges. But county officials said steps were being taken by administrative officials for forestall the effort. They termed the campaign "curbed."

Hahn said a delegation from the Interns and Residents Association visited his office and announced that a "heal in" was in progress.

The 3,300-bed facility is one of the largest general hospitals in the nation.

Dr. William Evans, the hospital's medical director, said the protest group promised "that nothing will be done which interferes with the best care available to patients."

The doctors had asked for a flat rate of $400 monthly for interns and a sliding scale for resident physicians rising over a five-year period from $510 to $713 a month.

But under a salary ordinance approved Thursday, interns will get $330 to start and $337 after six months of service -- plus room and board. Resident physicians, starting July 1, will receive from $435 to $645 a month.

Symington Pleads For Funds

WASHINGTON AP -- A Senate appropriations subcommittee was urged Thursday by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., to provide $51,298,000 this year to continue work on Missouri water projects -- $12,895,000 more than is in the President's budget.

Symington said his proposals would increase from $7 million to $14 million the appropriation for Kaysinger Bluff Reservoir.

Appropriations over budget recommendations were requested for:

Stockton Reservoir construction, from $10.5 to $13 million; Charlton River Flood control construction from $1.1 to $2.5 million; Missouri River channel stabilization from Omaha to Kansas City, $4.2 to $4.8 million; and for survey of the Big Blue River at Kansas City, $25,000 to $30,000.

Money for these projects not included in the budget also was asked by Symington; Joanna Dam and Reservoir, land acquisition and construction $1 million; Union Reservoir, Meremec Basin, planning $200,000; Pattonsburg Reservoir, planning subject to authorization of Grand Basin projects, $100,000.

Commencement To Be Inside

If it is raining tonight the Sikeston High School commencement exercises will be held in the high school gymnasium at 7:00. Each senior has been given two tickets for their parents to attend. A person not having tickets will not be allowed to enter the exercises in the gymnasium.

President Lyndon Johnson's foreign policy is being criticized by many of the nation's liberals, college professors, screwballs, beatniks, Communists and fellow travelers. It suits us fine.

It is about time that the American people learn that the rest of the world expects this country to lead, but that there isn't always time to obtain agreement before acting. Criticism cannot always be avoided.

A great deal of nonsense has been written about the failure to get the approval of the Organization of American States before this country acted to save the Dominican Republic from being overrun by the Communists as was Cuba. Fidel Castro is a very dangerous man to the defense of this country not because he is a strong military threat himself as the Cuban dictator of a Communist slave state, but because he is in a wonderful position to export subversion throughout the rest of the hemisphere. The nation should be on guard and President Johnson is ready, willing and able to do something about it. We applaud him for having the courage to act. If the United States had waited for OAS approval in the Dominican Republic it would have been too late.

If American soldiers are fighting anywhere in the world they should now be fighting in Cuba instead of Viet Nam, but since the United States missed an opportunity to help drive Castro from power and the country is committed to saving South Viet Nam from being overwhelmed by the Communist Viet Cong, it has the obligation to act. This President Johnson has done.

This country has made many mistakes in what might be described as mild appeasement. There is the Berlin wall. There is divided Germany because this country made the mistake of permitting Russia to occupy part of this country after World War II. There is the Cuban Bay of Pigs. Our failure to act affirmatively and constructively in all these situations has cost the United States prestige in the eyes of the world and has encouraged the Communists to be bold in their effort to subvert the rest of the world and deliver other nations into slavery.

In Korea this country won at least half a loaf. It is a good question whether the United States acted properly but at least our fighting men prevented all of Korea from being swallowed up by the red hordes.

This country cannot permit one country after another to be gobbled up by the Communists. Our interest is involved.

President Johnson knows this. It is a pity that all Americans don't understand it.

'THE SOUND OF MUSIC'

For someone who was not overly enthusiastic about "The Sound of Music" when it was performed on a Chicago stage by professionals, we found the play quite delightful when presented in Kennett Saturday night by the Sikeston Little Theatre group. Judging from the applause given the performers by the Kennett area audience, we can conclude the feeling was shared by several hundred others.

The Sikeston group, directed by Hope Terrell, did an excellent job on this musical version of the Von Trapp family who fled Austria in the 1930's and settled in America.

One of the outstanding performances of the evening was given by Mrs. JoAnne Fox, who played the difficult and demanding role of Maria Rainer. Mrs. Fox is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ashbaugh of Clarkton, and her performance was most outstanding. But there were others, too, including the seven children who played their counterparts in the Von Trapp family, who displayed a professional quality seldom seen in amateur productions.

For a near-capacity Kennett audience the play was not only a most enjoyable one, it was a remarkable demonstration of the high-quality performances which home talent is capable of giving. The Sikeston production of "The Sound of Music" was both entertaining and challenging.

The same quality can be achieved right here -- with proper leadership, interest and devotion to the arts.

We are in debt to the Sikeston Little Theatre, not only for a most enjoyable evening but also for a demonstration of what can be achieved in one's own community.

The poet Robert Burns said, "The plans of mice and men often go astray," but there is ample evidence a well planned community creates pleasant living conditions, is attractive to industry and is on the path of growth and progress.

The director of the Planning Section of the Missouri Division of Commerce and Industrial Development, Robert Simonds said, "A town or community that expects to grow and progress must look ahead. The individual problems of communities are mounting and becoming more complex, but there is a corresponding gain in knowledge of how to deal with these problems. The far sighted community will take advantage of these opportunities and benefit from them."

The Director said his office stands ready and able to help communities who expressed the desire to help themselves. He said, "Examples of blind growth and undirected change are commonplace. However, solutions to the problems may be obtained, but not until there is an understanding on the part of the general public and public officials as to the necessity of obtaining professional knowledge and 'steering'. The 'steering' is called planning and the objective of the planning process is to develop a guide for orderly community growth and change."

Simonds cited reasons for many communities failing to meet the standards for pleasant living conditions and being attractive to industry. "A junk yard or dumping area may spring up at the entrance to an otherwise attractive town," he stated. "Paving on the town square and side streets may be neglected. A late night business enterprise may be allowed to start near a residential neighborhood, an eight inch water or sewage main may be installed where a 16 inch main may soon be needed or a new school may be planned and its location completely undesirable for potential growth.

"These and many other things may curtail the growth and prosperity of a community and we may be able to help communities faced with these problems who want help."

A first-grade teacher asked her young pupils to draw pictures of John Glenn's space flight. The children worked hard on the project for about 15 minutes, then submitted their results to the teacher for her comments.

In the corner of one youngster's drawing was the outline of a woman. This puzzled the teacher and she asked: "Janie, who is this woman in your picture?"

POWER OF THE PERSONAL

A few personal words penned by the sender on a Christmas card, birthday card, get-well card, or a greeting card of any kind always adds a radiance and glow that cannot be achieved in any other way. People like the personal touch.

Little notes of thankfulness and appreciation also add joy to life. Those who take the time to drop a few lines to an author saying they liked his book, or to a committee chairman who has done a good job, or to their minister for preaching a fine sermon, are giving mental lifts that will spur men on in what are often lonely and thankless tasks.

For every person who writes a note there are probably a hundred who were appreciative and intended to write but never got around to doing it. This is a case in point in which silence does not speak as eloquently as words! Personal notes are "flowers" to the living!

The more the Marxists talk, the more they begin to sound like capitalists.

Premier Kosygin has announced that Russia's next five-year plan will concentrate on raising both the production of consumer goods, with emphasis on private cars, and the incomes of workers so that they will be able to buy the new goods.

Voicing words that could have come from any Western textbook on capitalism, Kosygin added a caution:

"Wages must be placed in direct relationship to increases in labor productivity and growth of production."

Speaking of capitalists and capitalism, however, as Michigan Gov. George Romney did the other day, these are words that in his opinion ought to be dropped from the vocabulary because our use of them plays into the hands of Communist propagandists.

"Around the world," he said, "capitalism is usually considered as an economic system in which the economy is controlled by the few, who benefit from the efforts of the many."

The system we actually have, said Romney, (is "consumerism." Ultimate control of the economy rests with the many -- "through the free and daily economic balloting of customers in the marketplace."

America, said Romney, buried classical capitalism long ago, whether we know it or not.

It may well be that Kosygin and Company, successors to Khrushchev Enterprises, are doing the same thing with communism -- whether they know it or not.

With the Dominican crisis sputtering to an end, at least in its shooting phase, second-guessers are arguing over the wisdom of President Johnson's rapid dispatching of American troops to their first landing on the soil of a Latin nation in more than a generation.

One question that occupies some critics is whether or not there ever really was any danger of a Communist take-over of the Dominican Republic. The New York Times, for one, observed that since U. S. troops had intervened, "no one any longer will be able to prove or disprove the thesis that a rebel victory would have brought a Communist government to Santo Domingo."

Presumably, the President should have waited until the new government had signed a trade agreement with the Soviet Union and Russian technicians had begun arriving, perhaps being spared from their duties in Cuba.

Others decry the great damage done the Good Neighbor-Policy and the concept of inter-American co-operation and equality and nonintervention in internal affairs, so laboriously built up over the years, by this alleged return to "gunboat diplomacy."

The fact is, however, that the Dominican revolution would have long been over before the Organization of American States could have decided on the need for action, and taken such action, had the United States sat back and waited upon its advice and consent.

The whole Dominican question, of course, should be debated in the councils of the OAS. But it is thanks to the United States that the problem confronting us and our Latin fellow members today is that of building stable democracy in the Dominican Republic and not what to do about another Communist foothold in the Western Hemisphere.

A POLITICAL EDUCATION

A grammar school class was brushing up on its reading by scanning the newspapers. One 11-year-old read a story of a political convention, then looked up to ask the teacher: "What does it mean when it says that Mr. Smith attended the convention in the big city as a delegate-at-large?" Answered the teacher: "It means he didn't take Mrs. Smith."

LITTLE CHILDREN SHOULD NEVER BE LEFT ALONE

Because of a rash of fires throughout the nation in which children have lost their lives, the American Insurance Association today urged parents to never leave little children at home alone -- not even for a few minutes.

The Association estimates that of the more than 11,000 persons who died in fires last year, 2,200 were children under five years old. Several times that number received bad burns in home fires.

If you must go out, arrange to have an adult or a responsible teenager stay with the children until you return.

And at all times keep matches out of the reach of children.

FOREIGN POLICY -- The Berlin Wall has remained, the missiles are still in Cuba, the U. S. S. R. still hasn't paid its obligations in the U. N., Laos has a coalition government and our current situation in Viet Nam is critical. Yet we see no major change in foreign policy, says Rep. John Ashbrook (R.-Ohio).

DISARMAMENT -- In 1961, Congress set up a disarmament agency. According to Cong. H. R. Gross (R.-Ia) last year it spent between $9 and $10 million. Now it is asking for a four-year authorization of $55 million so they won't have to come back each year to justify their spending.

IF YOU REALLY WANT TO KNOW

Most headaches are emotional. They are seldom caused by eyes, sinus infections or allergies, and never by constipation.

This is the judgment of one of the world's foremost authorities on the subject, Dr. Arnold P. Friedman, psychiatrist-neurologist who is head of the famed "Heacache Unit" of New York's Montefiori Hospital.

Quoted by Theodore Berland, writing in the AMA publication "Your Health," Dr. Friedman says: "Over and above all, headaches are related to the individual's reaction to the total life situation and how he handles it."

What to do about the "ordinary" headache? Take an aspirin along with a cup of coffee, a good walk or a nap; relax for awhile.

But evidently the relief effort can be overdone, as the makers of Bayer aspirin have frequently warned. Mr. Berland quotes Dr. Malcolm M. Fifield of Duluth, Minn., as saying that "the very drugs you take to combat a headache can cause a headache. This is particularly true if you take too many APC pills - a mixture aspirin-phenacetin - caffeine."

And it is comforting to learn that headaches are caused "by life - threatening diseases" in perhaps only one person in a hundred who suffer this widely misunderstood complaint.

For most of us then, the rules for headache are simple: To avoid skull - busters, guard against frustration, fury and emotional upheaval. And if you can't keep cool, keep aspirin.

With Decoys Like These We'll Have Over The Limit In No Time

Doc. Duncan Says

Reading between the lines, it looks like the hardest decision a President has to make is a choice between war and prosperity and peace and depression. A time like that is when the people should have a vote on that, then abide by their own decisions.

P. S. Come to think about it, guess they did vote on it in 1964.

H. L. Hunt Says

WHAT YOU CAN DO

If you sincerely believe in freedom and in patriotism, you can do something about it as the best are doing.

Only a very few people can afford to give their full time to this cause. Many mistakenly believe that there is no place for the part-time advocate of American principles.

Every time you speak up for our personal liberties, for our Constitution, for our national independence, you are doing something important for the cause you believe in. It is well if what you say can be heard by many. But it is better to reach one with a message he will remember and act upon, than a hundred who will listen casually and then forget.

Every time you help to guide a young person along the road to an understanding of our heritage and of the meaning of liberty, you are doing something important for the cause you believe in. Our young people are the future of this country. If they do not forget freedom they will learn how to keep it.

Try to make patriotism a pleasant diversion or outright fun. Be happy in your conviction that your cause is right. Do not go about with a long face. We all feel gloomy and disheartened at times, but we must never give others the impression that a belief in liberty brings gloom and despair. Instead it brings joy and happiness.

Don't criticize the press for anyone can complain; instead commend the writers you find who love our country and pass on to them "good news" for freedom. HLH

The late President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Viet Nam had plans for a summer palace here 43 miles southwest of Da Nang.

A site was cleared atop one of the peaks that tower up to 6,000 feet in wild and lonely green beauty. As there are no good roads, everything had to be flown in.

At a cost of $4 million to $5 million, an airstrip was built on a 1,600-foot-high plateau. Construction was begun on the foundations for the palace. Then Diem was killed during a politicla coup, and his unfinished palace hideaway now stands as a mute memorial to his vanished dream.

On the plateau now is a training camp for civilian irregular defense groups, quasi-soldier volunteers whose job is to protect isolated villages from Viet Cong raids.

"It's pretty much like garrison life anywhere except when we go out on operations against the Viet Cong. But I'll say one thing--these are the most miserable mountains and Godawful jungles anyone on a patrol ever saw."

Davidson could be forgiven a bit of homesickness. He was married only three months ago, and a month later had to leave his bride to come to this isolated outpost in a strange land.

To an outsider these lonely circles of security in an enemy sea seem terribly vulnerable to mass attacks. The airstrips are their only lifeline to the outside world.

"We could be overrun," acknowledged the unworried lieutenant, "but they'd have to spend an awful lot of people to do it--more people than they can afford.

"After all, this place is pretty well defended with prepared positions, concrete bunkers and miles of barbed wire and mine fields."

Aside from the guerrillas, the mountains and plateaus abound in many forms of wild game, including elephants and tigers. None of the Americans here has had a chance to go hunting for them, however.

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — There is more than meets the eye in the unanimous Supreme Court decision slapping down Glenn Cunningham, the rabble-rousing Congressman from Omaha, and his attempt to restrict Communist literature from the U.S. mails.

No. 1 — The decision will have repercussions on the election of the next mayor of New York.

No. 2 — It should give more backbone to politicians in both the Republican and Democratic parties when it comes to standing up against witch-hunting.

Up in New York City where the Republican party is grooming a new hopeful, John Lindsay, for mayor, later for President, the Supreme Court decision will strengthen his prestige. For only two Congressmen, John Lindsay and William Fitz Ryan, Democrat, had the courage to vote against the Cunningham amendment.

The Congressman from Omaha had made it appear that anyone was pro-Communist who voted against his requirement that those who wanted Communist mail delivered to them must notify the Post Office. As a result of his forensics every member of the House chickened on the constitutional right for freedom to read except Lindsay an Ryan.

Last January, Ryan, a Democrat, had the courage to stand up on the House floor and challenge the right of Mississippi Congressmen to take their seats because of Mississippi's denial of Negro voting rights. No one expected him to get more than a handful of votes, but he rolled up so many that sentiment has now swung in his direction and the Mississippi Congressmen may well be unseated.

—McCARTHYISM REVIVED—

To get the full significance of the Supreme Court's decision you have to go back to 1961, which was six years after Senate censure of the late Joe McCarthy brought an end to witch-hunting. Supposedly McCarthyism was dead. However, GOP Congressmen Cunningham, darling of the John Birchites, Rev. Billy James Hargis and the Texas oil tycoons, seized on the Communist mail issue and fanned it. Since the United States wants its literature sent through the mails of Communist countries, it does not object to having Communist literature sent through our mails. In addition, as the Supreme Court has now held, the Constitution provides that any citizen shall have the right to read what he wants.

Rep. Cunningham, who opposes this right, tacked his amendment on the postal rate increase bill in September 1961.

Since the Kennedy Administration wanted to raise postal rates more than it wanted to protect civil liberties, it didn't object. Only one man in the Post Office Department, Tyler Abell of the legal division, did his best to block the amendment. It finally passed the House in January 1962 after Rep. Ryan tried his best to defeat it. Only his Republican colleague Lindsay voted with him.

In the Senate hearings, Cunningham made an impassioned plea for adoption, deliberately twisting the facts. But the Kennedy Administration sent word to get the postal-rate increase adopted no matter what; to pass the question of constitutionality on to the Supreme Court. This was what finally happened.

—ED MURROW'S PLEA—

The late Edward R. Murrow, already seriously ill, dragged himself down to the Senate Post-Office hearings to make a dramatic plea in opposition to the Cunningham amendment. He told how the U.S. Information Agency had worked to get U.S. propaganda distributed in foreign countries and how this was sure to undo all our efforts.

His plea fell on frightened ears. The Senate Post-Office Committee voted the easy course. And on the Senate floor the only Senator with the courage to stand up and fight was Joe Clark, the ex-mayor of Philadelphia, who, working with Post Office attorney Tyler Abell, drafted three amendments.

The first, to kill the Cunningham amendment altogether, got nowhere. Most Senators agreed that the Communist mail restriction was unconstitutional but they were scared out of their wits by the Billy Hargises and the Birchites. They passed the buck to the Supreme Court.

On Clark's second amendment, a milder version, he won over 23 Senators. But he still lost. His third amendment passed the buck to the President by giving him the power to restrict Communist mail "if in the national interest." Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the majority leader, supported this.

"Does the Senator speak for the Administration when he makes this recommendation?" asked Sen. Tom Kuchel.

"I speak for the Senator from Montana," replied Mansfield, hastily making it clear that President Kennedy was taking no part in the controversy.

Even on this vote, Sen. Clark got only 33 votes. Again he lost. Among those who had the courage to stand up and be counted were several Senators up for election later who had some reason to fear the right wing backlash of an apparent vote for Communism.

Among them were Burdick, N.D., Carroll, Colo., Jackson, Wash., McCarthy, Minn., McGee, Wyo., Moss, Utah, Muskie, Me., Pastore, R.I., Randolph, W. Va., Williams, N.J., Yarborough, Tex., Young, Ohio, Church, Idaho, Symington, Mo. They voted their convictions, not political expediency. Every one of them was re-elected except Carroll of Colorado.

All of which would indicate that McCarthyism is just about as dead as its author, even if some Senators and the vast majority of the House don't know it.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Evidence of Mass Communist Apparatus Now Operating In Santo Domingo Is in Hands of U. S. Labor Chiefs

Washington, D. C.:--At 10:15 a.m. Tuesday, May 25, a Dominican long-distance operator rang the phone of a tense, harried man who had been waiting in hiding.

She told him his call to the national AFL-CIO headquarters in Washington could be put through. Quickly, Roland Leonard, the anti-Communist Latin American labor movement's man in Santo Domingo spoke to his American contact, Andy McLellan.

From the rush of words pouring in from Santo Domingo, McLellan learned that the anti-Communist union headquarters, the offices of "Conatral," had been sacked. The place had been looted. The files had been pruned for select names and then burned.

That morning, according to Rolando Leonard, a man whom he knew to be a tough Communist activist had taken control of the anti-Castro labor headquarters and kept it by virtue of an ever-ready machine gun.

I remember the "Conatral" headquarters well. I have spoken there in its open air second floor hall which once was a medical clinic. The freedom - loving, anti-Communist labor leaders who introduced me to a membership meeting now are refugees.

They found asylum in the offices of the American Institute for Free Labor Development--an organization jointly operated by U. S. labor leaders and executives of over 60 U. S. firms seeking to raise the living standards, especially housing, in Latin America.

Those Dominican labor leaders whom I had known had to flee their own headquarters because it is on Avenida Mella --in the rebel zone.

There was much more to the swift conversation between Senor Leonard, who for three years has been the representative of the Inter-American Regional Organization of Workers (ORIT) and Mr. McLellan, who heads the AFL-CIO's Latin-American section. There had been many such transoceanic reports.

It is important to point out that these reports have come from labor sources, not from any political faction or from any military leaders there.

That is why the AFL-CIO high command issued a virtually ignored statement of principles on May 19 which supported U. S. intervention and said:

"The Executive Council, acting on reports from its own investigators on the spot, declares its unequivocal support of the measures, taken to date, by President Johnson to meet these critical situations."

These dispatches disclose conditions far more drastic than anything the White House has yet revealed.

It is the belief of Mr. McLellan and his labor colleagues that there are many scores of high ranking, skilled Communist operatives in the Dominican Republic now.

Furthermore, some of them have been in the U. S. and are accomplished Communist espionage agents. This accounts for the presence of an FBI team in Santo Domingo.

In addition, the Communist apparatus now is running guns and ammunition into the mountains in preparation for assaults on any provisional government set up by the OAS.

Also, the Communists now have heavily infiltrated unions (independent of "Conatral") and will exert powerful influence in such strategic areas as the sugar plantations, the ports, the construction industry and the government service--unless they are immediately rooted out.

There are three powerful pro-Communist forces now in the area identified as the rebel zone, according to the U. S. labor leaders. One is pro-Peking; a second is pro-Moscow and pro - Castro; a third is simply pro-Castro. The most powerful of these is the 14th of June Movement which has a sizeable union force ready for general strike action.

Having documented all this, the AFL-CIO Executive Council--though it went unnoticed--put itself on record the other day with the following:

"The crises in Viet Nam and Santo Domingo, though continents apart, are basically interrelated. They must be faced in the context of the entire world crisis.

"To date, Castro has made three attempts to intervene in Santo Domingo and foist a Communist dictatorship on the Dominican people.

"In Santo Domingo, as in Viet Nam, our country seeks only to thwart a new and most dangerous form of intervention by the fifth columns of Communist imperialism."

These are the words of men who lead 13 million American working people. In this context, what can be more significant?

The Modern Christian

On what does the Christian base his faith?

The Christ who is the heart of the Christian message is the Risen Christ.

The Apostle Paul writes that if Christ is not risen our faith is in vain. Paul believed that the Risen Christ is central to the mystery of Christianity.

How could there be a living New People of God if Christ is not risen? The Church of Christ is alive, not dead. Christ continues to live in the People of God.

When we communicate Christ we affirm to people more than a marvelous historical Person of many centuries past. The Christ we wish people to believe is the Christ we want them to meet now.

When we meditate on the Gospel of the New Testament, it is not only to find out what Christ said or what Christ did, also to discover the present dynamism, or reality of Christ. Christ is now the Risen Christ. It is He whom we contact.

In returning to the record of what Christ said and did, we go back through the Scripture to the early Christian community that produced the New Testament literature, a community which taught what Christ said and did.

We believe that we are a continuation of this community; that we share in the continuation of Christ through time. What the Word of God gives us is the assurance that Christ indeed does live, and in Him, we too shall live. It is the power of God working through the words and actions of the New People of God, His Body.

The Risen Christ is present in our midst, not passively, but speaking and acting through His people. Our faith does not rest on a deceased historical figure, but on a living, risen God-Man.

Houston Setsback St. Louis With 6 to 1 Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ray Sadecki, the St. Louis Cardinals' 20-game winner last year who again got off to a slow start this year, will attempt to post his second victory tonight when he faces the Houston Astros.

He will be trying to place the Cardinals back in the victory column after their second defeat in 10 games Thursday night--a 6-1 setback in Houston.

But if the left-hander, who already has lost four games this season, fails again tonight, he may be sent to the bullpen. His 6.98 earned run average is the worst on the St. Louis staff.

Sadecki will face the Astros' Dave Giusti, who lost his last two starts after six straight victories.

Eddie Kasko's first - inning double, an infield out and Lee Maye's sacrifice fly put Houston out in front, 1-0, Thursday night. Then the Astros tallied two more in the next inning when Dick Groat threw wildly to first base.

Maye's double and Jim Wynn's home run helped wrap up the game in the three-run eighth inning. The Cardinals scored in the fifth on two-out singles by loser Ray Washburn, Bob Skinner and Groat.

The victory was Dick Farrell's fourth in five decisions.

The Kansas City A's, who were rained out Thursday at Baltimore, meet the Boston Red Sox tonight. Kansas City's Roland Sheldon 0-1 will face Boston's Jim Lonborg 3-2.

Foyt, Clark and Gurney Win Pole Position in 500

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Mr. James Clark, Jr., O.B.E., a gentleman farmer of Duns, Scotland, and A. J. Foyt Jr., one of America's most distinguished high school dropouts, will start hub-to-hub in the 49th 500-mile Memorial Day auto race Monday.

It will be a head-on clash of the top men in two fields — Clark, 29, of the world road racing circuit, Foyt, 30, of the U.S. Auto Club's closed courses.

Clark made the Order of the British Empire on the queen's last birthday honors list. All Foyt made was a quarter million dollars last year.

Beside them in the first row, earned by posting best speeds in two weekends of record-cracking time trials, will be handsome Dan Gurney, 34, international competitor from Costa Mesa, Calif.

Gurney not only is a strong contender but also is godfather of the three British - American hybrid cars which will lead the 33-car running start about 11 a.m., EST, Monday.

He promoted the original meeting of Colin Chapman of London, builder of the Lotus chassis, and Ford Motor Co. engineers, who provided a special V-8 engine.

The winner of the half-million-dollar race has come from the first two rows in four of the last five years. Foyt won from a fifth place start last year and from seventh in 1961.

Winner Rodger Ward, who missed the program this time, started second in 1962 and third in 1960.

Parnelli Jones, who will start fifth or middle of the second row this time, both started and finished in the first spot in 1963. He will sit between two outstanding newcomers Monday — Mario Andretti, native of Italy and now living in Nazareth, Pa., and Billy Foster of Victoria, B.C.

The track's 10-mile qualifying record was bettered by Andrettie, Clark and Foyt in the time trials but Foyt got it last at 161.233 m.p.h. Only the Scot and the USAC champion have ever turned laps over 160 at the 2½-mile speedway.

Clark, the 1963 world Grand Prix champion and No. 3 in the standings last year, finished only 33.84 seconds behind Jones in the controversial '63 Indianapolis race. Chapman tried to have Jones flagged off the course for spraying oil but officials refused.

BATTING -- Dick Schofield, Giants, drove in three runs with a double and a single in a 9-2 triumph over Cincinnati while lifting his average to .389 in five games for his new San Francisco teammates.

St. Louis Drops Missouri Out of NCAA Contention By Winning Doubleheader

ST. LOUIS AP -- St. Louis University won both ends of a doubleheader against the University of Missouri Thursday by identical scores of 5-4 to become the District 5 representative to the NCAA baseball tournament. The double victory gave St. Louis the best 2 out of 3 series.

St. Louis will meet other district winners in the NCAA World Series in Omaha June 6.

John Markham, St. Louis pitcher, struck out the last batter with the tying run on third base in the last of the ninth to win the first game.

Missouri led 4-0 through seven innings of the second game. St. Louis scored twice in the eighth inning on two hits and a wild pitch by Orville Hollrah.

In the ninth inning, St. Louis scored 3 more runs. Dan Leahy tripled with two on and a squeeze play by Jim Murphy then drove in the winning run.

Joe Gegg, St. Louis catcher, homered in the first game and Dan Rudanovich smacked a round - tripper in the second game for Missouri, both coming with the bases empty.

Mizzou's Robben Wins Big 8 Batting Crown

Missouri's Bob Robben squeezed by defending champ Steve McGreevy of Kansas .443 to .437 for the Big Eight hitting championship by stroking four hits in five times up in his final game at Iowa State.

Dan Rudanovich of Missouri closed 5-for-5 and nearly caught the leaders. He finished at .435, with Kansas State's Stu Steele fourth at .400.

Nebraska sophomore Stan Bahnsen took the Big Eight pitching crown with a 1.44 earned run average, edging Tom Van Galder of Iowa State at 1.53. In won-lost, Bahsen led the league with 6-1.

A total of 14 other players hit .300 or better for the season.

Tony Sellari, Oklahoma State, had .389, Gene Stephenson of Missouri .360, Adrian Mohr of Colorado .328, Tony Stark of OSU .328, Larry Bornschlegl of Nebraska .321, Ron Cummins of Missouri .317, Dick Olsen of Iowa State .317, Jim Pace of Missouri .314, Dick Ruggles of Kansas .311, Steve Best of Colorado .308, Joe Beck of K-State .306, Carl Schreiner of Oklahoma .304, Jerry Retzlaff of Iowa State .302 and Jay Cronley of Oklahoma .300.

OSU's Dick Frank was third in ERA at 1.89. Gary Niebauer of Nebraska had 1.97, Bob Hergenrader of Nebraska 2.34, Mohr 2.61, Bob Ziegler of Iowa State 2.88, Orv Hollrah of Missouri 2.97 and Fred Chana of Kansas 3.15.

The versatile Mohr was sixth in the league in pitching, seventh in batting, tied for second with Schreiner on 5 homers and tied for third in runs batted in with 16. What's more he played third, first, pitch, all over the outfield and didn't make an error all season.

Robben took the RBI crown with 23. Schreiner's 19 was second.

OSU's Fred Moulder was the home run champion with 6. Robben and Joe Windes tied with 3 triples. McGreevy's 9 doubles led the league, with Robben and teammate Mike Strode at 6 each. McGreevy and Robben tied for first in hits at 31. In runs scored, Rudanovich was far in front with 24. Jack Price of Colorado won the stolen base crown over Retzlaff, 13-11. Ernie Recob of K-State had 7, Missouri's Ray Thorpe 6.

ARE YOU FULLY COVERED?

Our vacation trip was the best one yet but alas, homecoming was no fun. Vandals had broken in, turned on the water and turned off electricity. Both floors were a skating rink - not to mention broken glass. And adding insult to injury, a mustache had been painted on grandma's portrait. Does your new Homeowners policy cover all such damage?

Malden Okays Power Pact

MALDEN — An ordinance approving a contract and agreement for interchange of electric power and for joining use and occupancy of facilities by and between Malden and Missouri Utilities Company has been approved by the City Council.

The Missouri Utilities Company for several years has provided additional electric power as needed at the Malden Industrial Park and Airport. The electric power has been purchased by the board of public works, which operates the Malden Municipal power plant.

The ordinance as approved provides for the building by Missouri Utilities Company of a 34,500-volt electric transmission pole line, and its use by Malden, and granting unto Missouri Utilities the right to set its poles, lines and fixtures on, and to occupy, certain streets, alleys and public grounds in Malden.

This agreement is being made with Missouri Utilities Company so that Malden will have an adequate source of electric power over and above what is generated at the municipal plant.

The transmission line would run from its existing lines near Malden Industrial Park to a substation of the City of Malden which is to be located at or near the present power plant.

SEMO Counties Get $893,238 In Gas Taxes

Southeast Missouri counties have received $893,238.91 in the past three years under the Missouri gas tax program which has produced $286,480,771.05 for the state's road and highways, according to information released today by the Missouri Oil Council. This plan has yielded over $46 million more than voters were promised when they approved the program in 1962.

During the three-year period Dunklin County has received $134,080.04.

Stoddard County leads among the eight SeMo counties in total allocation for three years.

The total allocation for this county during this period was $149,180.70.

Here are the allocations by counties in Southeast Missouri. The first figure represents March, 1965 allocations which were placed in each county's special account in May, 1965. The second figure shows the accumulative amount credited to each county in the three year period. The third shows the balance each county had up to May 11, 1965.

Butler--$2,745.64, $94,885.81 and $60,551.70.

Cape Girardeau -- $2,722.66, $97,172.40 and $20,517.39.

Mississippi--$2,167.66, $76,377.09 and $9,415.98.

New Madrid -- $4,639.00, $139,933.02 and $26,065.16.

Pemiscot --$3,478.53, $124,406.44 and $18,241.44.

Scott -- $2,254.04, $77,430.41 and $15,089.54.

The 114 counties of Missouri had $348,967.18 placed in their accounts of the County Aid Road Trust (CART) fund in mid-May hiking their three year total to $12,398,551.50. This was $398,551.50 more than the tax was expected to yield.

The state gasoline tax dollar is divided with 80 per cent of the receipts going to the State Highway Department, 15 per cent to incorporated cities with more than 200 population; and the remaining five per cent to the counties. Costs of collections and refunds are shared on an identical ratio.

Q—How much does the Washington monument weigh?

NO LAUGHING MATTER -- Beards, lanky hair, and unkempt clothes and bodies characterized many of the demonstrators protesting the hearings of the House Un-American Activities Committee in Chicago. A passing demonstrator, in a far-out costume, brought smiles to newsmen covering the hearings. About 20 of the protesters have been arrested. The committee is holding hearings on Communist activity in the Chicago area.

HOW MUCH CHEATING SHOULD YOU TEACH YOUR CHILDREN?

What's the difference between a little white lie . . . and a big vicious one?

If it's all right to fib out of a parking ticket, what's wrong about a fib in school?

And does our national record on income tax day entitle us to look in horror at the epidemic of college cheating?

Most of us learned once what's right. We learned the firm principles held by our families and our Faith. Now it's a question of how well we're teaching our children.

Here is a place where your Church or Synagogue can help strengthen the character you are molding. It's a question of building Faith . . . and you have the answer.

Errors were numerous in the game at Dexter Sunday, when Sikeston beat Dexter with a score of 9-3. The cold wind and the sand made good fielding hard. Martin pitched a good game after the first inning. Bowman repeated his batting of last week, getting three hits out of four trips up.

PRAYER
For Today From The Upper Room

FRIDAY, MAY 28, 1965

I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou shouldest keep them from the evil. (John 17:15)

PRAYER: O God, our heavenly Father, we pray that we may have the courage and the desire ever to live in the world as Thy children redeemed by Thy Son Jesus Christ. Give us strength to overcome every temptation to become worldy while living in the world. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

See everything, overlook a great deal, correct little.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from "Bitter 16" told how selfish most teenage boys are —how they chase the two or three good-lookers while the plain girls sit home, dateless and miserable.

Not ALL teenage boys are that way. A few months ago I had an experience that proved it.

My hobby is photography. I was asked to run the photo concession at a prom. The big problem was the repeaters — those who kept coming back again and again.

One young ruggedly handsome fellow kept returning with a different girl every 20 minutes. I finally said, "You've had about 10 pictures taken, aren't you overdoing it?" He gave me a wink as he handed me his quarter.

A few minutes later he came back alone and whispered, "If you don't mind I'd like to bring a few more gals over. Some of the girls don't have dates tonight and I'd like to see that they have at least a souvenir picture."

This chap had been seeking out the wall-flowers and paying for the pictures himself. Sweet? — RENEWED FAITH

Dear Renewed: You bet! I always knew there were such teenagers around but I'm glad to let millions of others know it, too.

Dear Ann Landers: Vera and I are successful, middle-aged, unmarried career people. We've often congratulated each other on the joys of freedom.

Last night we discussed marriage as a "sporting proposition." We both know couples who, when their marriage failed, tore each other apart in the divorce court.

We are considering marriage with the understanding that if things don't work out we will meet in a lawyer's office, shake hands, sign the papers and part company in a civilized manner. There would be no settlement or alimony jazz.

What do you think of this? —MATURE

Dear Mat: Not much. If you are interested in a "sporting proposition," why not bet on the Irish Sweepstakes and let it go at that?

Marriage is a promise to love and cherish one another for so long as you both shall live. It is not an agreement that you will stay together as long as she has her figure, or as long as you have your bankroll — or until somebody more attractive comes along.

Unless you two view marriage as a permanent arrangement — a heavy emotional investment, well worth the agony of learning to live together — you'd better stay single and save the court costs.

Dear Ann Landers: Both my husband and I teach. For several years summer school has kept us from enjoying a real vacation. This summer we want to take a two-month trip.

Yesterday my husband's mother announced that she'd like to join us. She is financially independent and will pay her own way. My husband said, "If mother comes along the trip will be ruined. I'd rather stay home."

My husband's two married sisters who live in this city go off on vacations very suddenly. We never know they are going until we get a post card from 800 miles away. I'm sure they disappear quietly to avoid unwanted company.

I don't want to hurt my mother-in-law's feelings. What should be done? — NINE O'CLOCK BELLE

Dear Belle: Your husband should tell his mother that you have been looking forward to this "second honeymoon" and you want it to be just that.

Feeling as you do, if your mother-in-law is permitted to blast her way into your vacation you will all wish you'd have stayed home.

Liquor can ruin your mind, your body and your life. To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teenage Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Go Ahead... Go Cadillac!
Before you buy any car at any price, consider a Cadillac first of all. New or previously owned, a Cadillac is the one way to be sure your investment will buy the most and last the longest.
Whatever you have budgeted for your next car, your Cadillac dealer has a Cadillac to fit your plans. Naturally, if your choice were unrestricted, you would prefer a new 1965 Cadillac like the Sedan de Ville in front. Next best would be a late-model, previously-owned Cadillac such as the black 1963 Sedan de Ville, above. A well-maintained, one-owner used Cadillac is actually the only real rival of a new Cadillac. Because of the popularity of the 1965 model, your authorized dealer is the one logical place to go for the best selection of fine used Cadillacs.

bloodshed in the Dominican Republic."

He said they had "additional help and a deeper cause."

The President associated the "deeper cause" with areas where the poor and the oppressed find difficulty entering the gates of opportunity.

In this situation, he said, the United States must try to "narrow the gap between the rich nations and the poor — and between the right people and the poor within each nation."

Johnson called this "the heart of the purpose of the United States."

In urging new international machinery, Johnson gave no details of what he had in mind.

However, it was believed he felt that the multination force now trying to keep peace and promote stability in the Dominican Republic might serve as a precedent for inter-American efforts if other nations face similar upheavals.

Johnson emphasized that "for the first time in history the Organization of American States has created and sent to the soil of an American nation an international peacekeeping force."

He said "that may be the greatest achievement of all."

Johnson reported that "the broad outlines of a reasonable settlement are beginning to emerge" in the Dominican Republic." He said these outlines meet the needs and desires of the Dominican people and the entire hemisphere.

In detailing these items, Johnson said that first of all, "the Dominican people — and the people of their sister republics — do not want government by extremists of either the left or the right."

He said everyone also seeks "an end to slaughter in the streets," food and work and peaceful nights, a constitutional government, and for the Dominicans, the chance to shape their own course with help from "sympathetic neighbors in healing their wounds and negotiating their divisions."

The President flew to his native Texas Thursday night for his first weekend visit in six weeks. Before flying to Waco and the university, Johnson arranged to participate in the unveiling of a full-length presidential portrait in the Texas Senate chamber at Austin.

In remarks prepared for that occasion, Johnson recalled that his father, Sam Ealy Johnson, served for 12 years as a member of the Texas Legislature early in the century.

"Here at my father's side," he said, "I was first exposed to the strength, the vitality and the enduring value of our system of representative democracy."

The President expressed the belief that this system, both politically and economically, "is succeeding as never before."

My interest in young people is in rumpling their brains as you might rumple a good head of hair.

OUR 55TH YEAR | 10¢ PER COPY | SIKESTON, SCOTT COUNTY, MISSOURI, FRIDAY, MAY 28, 1965 | NUMBER 208

"Sam" the five-year old Labrador dog, busy digging worms for his master, Kenneth Whittington of East Prairie. The animal can pick out a spot and dig all the worms needed. He is especially fond of children, and will guard them at every opportunity.

Smart Dog Picks Owner

EAST PRAIRIE--This deals with a dog wanting to choose his own friend--an adult.

The 104-pound Labrador, now five years old, looks like any other dog, but "Sam" is more than that to his owners, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Whittington and son, Sidney Earl, 14, who live at 706 South Grand.

Sam once belonged to Bill Winchester, an auto dealer, who obtained the dog when a pup of six weeks from a conservation agent. The Winchesters kept the dog for two years. There the story begins.

The dog took a fancy to Mr. Whittington on hunting trips and visits to the home three years ago, and soon followed him everywhere. The family became attached to him.

This animal is as playful as a kitten or any family pet with children. Let an adult come near a child to do him harm and he will have a battle on his hands.

Sam, on many occasions, has pushed children away from water, grabbing an arm and pulling them away. On the Fourth of July, he has picked up live cherry bombs thrown near children and carried them away. A few have exploded in his mouth.

He is an expert swimmer as are all Labradors. He will dive in water at a height of 15 feet or more, go to the bottom, and if after fish, snares one. Sam has an otter-like tail which operates while swimming. He can swim for hours and will do his master's bidding in water.

He lost one water battle with a beaver but only because his foe went to the bottom for his protection.

A full grown 30-pound bobcat lost in a battle with Sam, and in five minutes the animal was killed. The dog came out with two minor scratches. He's never failed to subdue any enemy of his size.

He is a neighborhood playmate. Last week children painted the bottom of his feet and tail white, and drew circles around his eyes with white paint to show him off. He took it all in stride and joined them in football. He'll have them throw out a stick and from a starting line he'll rush through the whole group of boys to the other end of the playing field. No boy is able to tackle him.

Is he a hunting dog? Ask anyone in East Prairie who has hunted with him. He is a fine game retriever.

When the telephone rings, and Mr. Whittington is called to the phone, the dog is right there wondering what the next assignment will be. If he goes to the car, the dog follows. Once the family left home for three days and the dog kept the house in perfect order.

He will go fishing at the drop of a hat. If his owner needs fishing worms, he tells Sam to dig a can full. The dog will do it and after he has scratched out several dozen he expects the owner to put them in a can.

Sam loves chocolate cookies and candy. Don't mention either to him because he'll take anyone by the hand and walk anywhere to get either. He doesn't like other flavors.

All County offices are to be closed on Monday, but they will reopen Tuesday as usual.

Dog Bites Child Then Falls Dead

MALDEN--A small child was bitten by a dog that died immediately after inflicting the wound, according to Chief of Police R. M. Thompson. The incident occurred on North Kimbal Street.

Thompson said that the dead animal was sent to the state department of health at Poplar Bluff for examination. The lab report revealed that the dog did not have rabies.

Three Semo Men Jailed

MEMPHIS, Tenn. AP--U. S. District Judge Marion S. Boyd Thursday ordered three southeast Missouri men jailed "in default of proper bonds of $50,000 each" on charges of attempted extortion.

Defendants are Walter Richarson, Jr., 38, of Portageville; and William R. McIntosh, 45, and Dale Wilson, 23, both of Sikeston associated with Wil-Mar Advertising Co., of Sikeston.

They were indicted May 18, charged with calling William Tanner, president of Pepper Sound Studios, Inc., in Memphis and demanding $5,000 to avoid bodily harm to Tanner's brother, Henry Faye Tanner.

The judge entered pleas of innocent for the men and urged them to obtain an attorney in time for trial June 16.

Mounted Patrol Begin Practice

The 20 members of the Semo Shrine Horse Patrol met for the first time this year to begin riding in preparation for their Semo Shrine Mounted Patrol Horse Show to be held May 31.

They have two new members this year, Clint Elledge and Weston Henry. It is announced that the patrol is to practice on Tuesday nights at their barn across from the Country Club.

As young as this new season is, they have already scheduled several events throughout Southeast Missouri and surrounding states. In Sikeston they are to participate in the Cotton Carnival and Rodeo Parades.

The purpose of the Shrine is to help send crippled children to the crippled children's hospital in St. Louis. The statewide organization has helped 1,137 youngsters get in the hospital for treatment this year.

Three Injured In Four Car Pile-up

In the only injuries reported in district highway accidents, three were in a single chain reaction at the Cane Creek bridge Thursday on Highway 67, eight miles south of Poplar Bluff. It was while road striping was being done when the first car, a 1963 Chevrolet, driven by Richard Nelson, St. Louis, had stopped, when a 1965 Chevrolet driven by Ira Sheppard, Paw Paw, Mich., stopped behind him. Donald Stautner, 33, Brookfield, Wisc., was the third car to make a stop, when his car was struck in the rear by Robert Haynes, York, Ill.

Three members of the Stautner family who received cuts and bruises were, Ruth Stautner, 21, and their two children, Donald 6 and Frank 5.

City Council Meets

In a special meeting of the City Council yesterday, Bill Sikes, Director of Multi-Occupational Training courses, confronted the Council with the problem of housing that the Manpower Development Act is going to create when training starts here next month.

He said, after pointing out how fortunate Sikeston was to have a program such as this and that it was the first of its kind in the state, "That this program will span over a period of 18 months and will blanket out over a 12 to 14 county area."

He then stated, "It is expected that approximately 400 persons will come to Sikeston to take advantage of the program, but they all won't come at the same time. Approximately 50 per cent of the trainees will live in Sikeston." When asked by the Council just how many would be here at one time, he answered by saying, "Of course I can't guarantee it, but we don't expect 250 at the same time."

He then pointed out that he knew it wasn't a problem of the City Council, but he would like to have their cooperation.

He then said, "This program is going to bring $1,000,000 to Sikeston and that it should be a community project involving possibly the offices of the City Welfare, State Welfare and the Ministerial Alliance. It is not a problem of the school or the Employment Security Division."

He was then asked by the Council if the people coming to take the training would be mostly single or married people. In answer he replied, "Mostly it will be married people, but they will come without their families in most instances." He then added, "Training periods will vary widely for the trainees, depending upon how an individual has to be taught."

From there the council took up its regular business and decided to purchase ½ acre of land for park facilities from John Hux on S. Prairie and Edmundson for $3,000. This is in answer to the growing demands being put on parks in the City.

Also, the Council resolved to apply for a $10,000 State Grant for improvements of municipal airport facilities. This $10,000 is to be matched dollar per dollar by the Federal Government.

Helicopters Collide

SAIGON, South Viet Nam AP -- Two U. S. Army helicopters collided in the air and crashed in flames today at the Bien Hoa Air Base. Nine Americans were killed and two seriously injured.

A 10th American, a Marine, was killed when Viet Cong guerrillas and U. S. Marines fought a grenade battle before dawn six miles west of the Chu Lai beachhead 52 miles south of Da Nang. It was the first serious attack on the Marine defenses at Chu Lai, where U. S. Navy Seabees are building a jet airstrip.

Ten Marines were wounded, two of them seriously. Six Viet Cong bodies were found and a wounded guerrilla was captured.

The two helicopters collided about 50 to 100 feet up and crashed in an open patch of ground 200 yards from the helicopter area of the Bien Hoa base 15 miles north of Saigon. Both were troop-carrying craft attached to the 118th U.S. Army Helicopter Company.

Eight of the occupants were killed outright and the ninth died three hours later in the base hospital.

Aviators from the company rushed to the scene and pulled the three injured men from the wreckage. Wreckage was strewn over a large area.

First reports said one of the helicopters was returning from Saigon with an Army helicopter crewman who had been injured several days ago in the foot by a Viet Cong bullet. He was returning to his unit.

The other ship reportedly was leaving the helicopter pad outside the Vietnamese 3rd Corps headquarters.

"They met at the same place," an eyewitness said.

The helicopters collided about 50 feet up. One burst into flames. The other appeared to break up in the air, then caught fire.

On May 16 a series of explosions smashed through lines of U.S. and Vietnamese bombers at the other side of the Bien Hoa base, killing 26 Americans and injuring more than 100. U.S. officials said that also was an accident, but an investigation is still under way.

Farmers Can Expect Official Visits In New Madrid County

NEW MADRID: -- Farmers, county wide, can expect an official visit soon from one of twenty New Madrid County men who began work May 24 as reporters for the Agricultural Stabilization Committee Office located in New Madrid.

As reporters, these men will be measuring and computing acreages to insure compliance with the government's Feed Grain Program, including corn and diverted acres, and cotton allotments.

Eight or ten other reporters, along with five full-time computers, will join the original group during the first week of June, according to June C. Ransburgh, Chairman of the New Madrid County ASC.

Ransburgh said that the duration of this particular work will vary; however, first measure of every farm in the county should be completed by the end of June.

Following completion of the first measure, several farms will be re-measured. Those farms will include those which may have been overplanted and which may require a re-check to make sure that excess acres have been plowed under. Individual farmers, too, may request a re-measure.

When queried about who makes up his reporter force, Ransburgh replied that the county's thirty-three farm elected committee members are given the opportunity to fill these jobs first. Then other farm people are contacted as a source. Finally, teachers and college students who wish to work during summer vacations finish filling out the reporter ranks. This last group makes up a sizeable part of his workers, as the reporters are needed just when farm people are busiest with their own work.

Ransburgh said that regulations of the various acreage programs are quite complicated and emphasized that maturity of judgment is now a prime requisite for a reporter. Another factor that now makes measuring harder than normal is that many county farms have been cut in half (many at angles) by the construction of Interstate Highway 55 which is now in progress.

Earnings of reporters will vary, according to the chairman, because some will work for a longer period than others. However, those who work from June 1 until the end of the month can expect to earn in the neighborhood of $400. Reporters are paid at the rate of $18.50 per day and they work a six day week.

Max Thompson of New Madrid Route is the reporters' immediate supervisor. Joe Haubold of Marston is the assistant supervisor. Both are farmers.

Gehlert Speaks About 'Pencils'

By Dan Whittle
Daily Standard Staff

It has been said that the electronic computer has a more beneficial potential for the human race than any other invention in history . . . if man "instructs" the computer to perform usefully, that is.

The mysteries of converting business information into language a computer can understand were for the most part solved in a speech given by Robert W. Gehlert, vice president of marketing for Vance - Whitworth, Incorporated, before an interested group of 35 persons at the noontime meeting of the Sikeston Chamber of Commerce yesterday at the Holiday Inn.

As explained by Gehlert, the key to the whole thing is the right Input Device. And for the laymen present, Gehlert defined an Input Device as some kind of equipment which allows business data (orders, receipts, payments) to be communicated with a computer system.

"An Input Device, to be successful, must take on many of the characteristics of a pencil . . . must in effect be a pencil to the computer," he pointed out. "That means it should be simple and easy to operate, should be capable of being used on the spot where recording is needed," he said. "And another characteristic of the pencil an Input Device should possess is that it must be applicable to any type of business operation."

He continued, "The pencil has been widely accepted because it allows you to see what you are recording or communicating. It allows you to verify the accuracy of what was recorded.

"And this brings us to another feature which I have found to be the one flaw in the design of a common pencil. The erasers are too small. The 'pencil to the computer' must have the ability to remove errors," he said.

Robert W. Gehlert

In summary, Gehlert pointed out that the ideal Input Device for computers must have these characteristics: (1) simple and easy to operate (2) low cost for use where information is generated (3) applicable to any business operation and (4) visual recording of what was sent to the computer (5) control total capability for accuracy (6) capability of removing erroneous recordings or erasing.

Fortunately, such an Input Device is available for the world of business. And as members of the C of C audience suspected all along, it was developed and is being marketed successfully by Vance - Whitworth. Said Device may also soon be a source of civic pride, for Vance-Whitworth plans to manufacture this equipment here, when plans have been completed to move major portions of the firm here this summer.

Johnson Orders Withdrawal of 1700

By FRANK CORMIER

WACO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson announced today he is issuing orders to withdraw 1,700 American military men from the Dominican Republic.

But he warned at the same time that in the hemisphere "we can expect more efforts at triumph by terror and conquest through chaos." And he called for "new international machinery geared to meet fast-moving events."

In an address prepared for commencement exercises at Baylor University — once headed by his great grandfather George Washington Baines — Johnson said, "When forces of freedom move slowly —whether on political, economic or military fronts — the forces of slavery and subversion move rapidly and decisively."

The president said that one of the lessons learned during the past four weeks in the Dominican Republic is that "it is clear that we need new international machinery geared to meet fast-moving events."

"When hours can decide the fate of generations, the moment of decision must become the moment of action," he added.

The 1,700 troops the President said are being withdrawn are in addition to 1,600 he said have been withdrawn over the past two days.

And Johnson said he has instructed Lt. Gen. Bruce Palmer, commander of U.S. foces in the Dominican Republic, "to discuss possible further withdrawals" with Gen. Hugo Panasco Alvim of Brazil, commander of the Organization of American States forces in the revolt-torn Caribbean country.

Johnson said the necessity for quick action is one of "the new realities" made apparent by the Dominican situation.

The President has been criticized in some quarters for not advising other hemisphere nations before announcing his decision April 28 to send military forces to the Dominican Republic.

Today, in discussing the Communist threat within the hemisphere, Johnson said:

"We know that when a Communist group seeks to exploit misery, the entire free inter-American system is put in deadly danger. We also know that these dangers can be found today in many of our lands. There is no trouble anywhere these evil forces will not try to turn to their advantage. We can expect more efforts at triumph by terror and conquest through chaos."

The President, speaking of U.S. goals, said, "We want for the peoples of this hemisphere only what they want for themselves — liberty, justice, dignity, a better life."

Johnson said that more than a few agitators were needed "to bring on the tragic and cruel

Report From Photographer

EDITOR'S NOTE — Troops of the 173rd Airborne Brigade landed in South Viet Nam early this month. Pulitzer Prize-winning AP photographer Horst Faas accompanied a battalion on its first action against the Viet Cong. Here is his report.

By HORST FAAS
AP Photographer

VUNG TAU, South Viet Nam (AP) — Girls in bikinis were sunning and surfing as the three companies of paratroopers flew over this seaside resort. Artillery and bombs sounded sharply 15 miles away, softening up the landing zone.

The 173rd Airborne Brigade had landed in Viet Nam early this month. On Wednesday helicopters carried the 503rd Regiment's 1st Battalion into its first action against the Viet Cong. It was a frustrating experience with an elusive human enemy and relentless natural foes.

Sniper fire greeted the helicopters as they landed, then the guerrillas faded away. The men moved off in steaming tropical heat, two companies clambering up and over huge boulders toward the hills, the third moving through the valleys.

One main sprained an ankle. "Sure, I can go on. I'm airborne," he told his commander and hobbled off.

Throughout the afternoon the troops fought climbing jungle vines and thorns. Mosquitoes attacked in swarms. Faces, hands and arms were streaked with blood from bites and the snags of thorns and vines. But at times the vines came in handy as the heavily loaded troops pulled themselves up sheer rocks and cliffs.

A heavy tropical rain set in at dark, making things cooler but making the bush and the rocks slippery. The paratroopers still wore smooth-soled jump boots though they hope to be issued cleated jungle boots soon.

They found an abandoned Viet Cong lookout with an excellent view of the airfield at Vung Tau and the highway leading from the town. They blew up the post and moved on up into the hills, struggling over the rain-slick rocks with their 50-caliber machine guns, bazookas, mortars and ammunition.

They bedded down for the night in a downpour. The day's pouring sweat turned into shivering cold. No fires or smoking were permitted. A helicopter hovered over a hacked out clearing and dropped C rations and jerry cans of water.

During the night the Americans could hear Vietnamese artillery firing near by and one firefight between Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

At daybreak they moved off again and saw a man perched in the trees, peering through foliage apparently as an observer for the Viet Cong. The troops held their fire, under orders not to open up unless they could see a weapon. He vanished in the thick bush.

Hospital Service Being Disrupted

LOS ANGELES AP -- A county official says resident physicians and interns at Los Angeles County General Hospital, miffed by a pay raise of less than $10 a month, are flooding the huge facility with patients.

He says the doctors are calling it a "heal in."

County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, who said the protest was described to his office Thursday, called it "a deliberate plan to disrupt good hospital service."

Hahn said the strategy among the 200 interns and 350 physicians was to admit as many patients as possible, and at the same time, retain patients longer than normally would be the case.

Dr. Richard Boggs, president of the intern-resident protest group, declined to discuss the situation with newsmen.

Hospital administrators said there was a 25 per cent increase in admissions Thursday and a 40 per cent drop in discharges. But county officials said steps were being taken by administrative officials for forestall the effort. They termed the campaign "curbed."

Hahn said a delegation from the Interns and Residents Association visited his office and announced that a "heal in" was in progress.

The 3,300-bed facility is one of the largest general hospitals in the nation.

Dr. William Evans, the hospital's medical director, said the protest group promised "that nothing will be done which interferes with the best care available to patients."

The doctors had asked for a flat rate of $400 monthly for interns and a sliding scale for resident physicians rising over a five-year period from $510 to $713 a month.

But under a salary ordinance approved Thursday, interns will get $330 to start and $337 after six months of service -- plus room and board. Resident physicians, starting July 1, will receive from $435 to $645 a month.

Symington Pleads For Funds

WASHINGTON AP -- A Senate appropriations subcommittee was urged Thursday by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., to provide $51,298,000 this year to continue work on Missouri water projects -- $12,895,000 more than is in the President's budget.

Symington said his proposals would increase from $7 million to $14 million the appropriation for Kaysinger Bluff Reservoir.

Appropriations over budget recommendations were requested for:

Stockton Reservoir construction, from $10.5 to $13 million; Charlton River Flood control construction from $1.1 to $2.5 million; Missouri River channel stabilization from Omaha to Kansas City, $4.2 to $4.8 million; and for survey of the Big Blue River at Kansas City, $25,000 to $30,000.

Money for these projects not included in the budget also was asked by Symington; Joanna Dam and Reservoir, land acquisition and construction $1 million; Union Reservoir, Meremec Basin, planning $200,000; Pattonsburg Reservoir, planning subject to authorization of Grand Basin projects, $100,000.

Commencement To Be Inside

If it is raining tonight the Sikeston High School commencement exercises will be held in the high school gymnasium at 7:00. Each senior has been given two tickets for their parents to attend. A person not having tickets will not be allowed to enter the exercises in the gymnasium.

Spitzmiller Named President

Norman Spitzmiller, 504 Malcolm Street, was elected president of the Southeast Missouri Chapter of Certified Public Accountants last night in the organization's annual meeting held at Poplar Bluff.

Other officers elected include Robert Hearnes, vice-president from Poplar Bluff; William Stewart, secretary from Poplar Bluff; and Jerry L. Schwab of Cape Girardeau was elected as treasurer.

This is the third president from Sikeston since the beginning in 1959. A. J. Day, 730 North Ranney was the first president and J. H. Bucher, 625 Park, was president in 1961.

PRESIDENT SPITZMILLER, far right, is being shown standing here with fellow officers elected last night at the annual meeting of the Southeast Missouri Chapter of Certified Public Accountants. There are five vacancies and possibly a sixth one for teachers in the Junior and Senior high schools according to Superintendent of Schools Lynn Twetty.

In the junior high school there are vacancies for teachers in art, science, math and possibly a boys physical education teacher.

In the high school a combined teacher in English and social studies, and one to instruct business education are needed.

Monday Is Holiday

A long weekend will generally be experienced by Sikeston residents since Monday is to be observed as a national holiday for Memorial Day by all businesses and government offices, including all City offices. However, the Division of Employment Security will have at it's office a skeleton crew. This is to be statewide.

All County offices are to be closed on Monday, but they will reopen Tuesday as usual.

Dog Bites Child Then Falls Dead

MALDEN--A small child was bitten by a dog that died immediately after inflicting the wound, according to Chief of Police R. M. Thompson. The incident occurred on North Kimbal Street.

Thompson said that the dead animal was sent to the state department of health at Poplar Bluff for examination. The lab report revealed that the dog did not have rabies.

City Council Meets

In a special meeting of the City Council yesterday, Bill Sikes, Director of Multi-Occupational Training courses, confronted the Council with the problem of housing that the Manpower Development Act is going to create when training starts here next month.

He said, after pointing out how fortunate Sikeston was to have a program such as this and that it was the first of its kind in the state, "That this program will span over a period of 18 months and will blanket out over a 12 to 14 county area."

He then stated, "It is expected that approximately 400 persons will come to Sikeston to take advantage of the program, but they all won't come at the same time. Approximately 50 per cent of the trainees will live in Sikeston." When asked by the Council just how many would be here at one time, he answered by saying, "Of course I can't guarantee it, but we don't expect 250 at the same time."

He then pointed out that he knew it wasn't a problem of the City Council, but he would like to have their cooperation.

He then said, "This program is going to bring $1,000,000 to Sikeston and that it should be a community project involving possibly the offices of the City Welfare, State Welfare and the Ministerial Alliance. It is not a problem of the school or the Employment Security Division."

He was then asked by the Council if the people coming to take the training would be mostly single or married people. In answer he replied, "Mostly it will be married people, but they will come without their families in most instances." He then added, "Training periods will vary widely for the trainees, depending upon how an individual has to be taught."

From there the council took up its regular business and decided to purchase ½ acre of land for park facilities from John Hux on S. Prairie and Edmundson for $3,000. This is in answer to the growing demands being put on parks in the City.

Also, the Council resolved to apply for a $10,000 State Grant for improvements of municipal airport facilities. This $10,000 is to be matched dollar per dollar by the Federal Government.

Three Semo Men Jailed

MEMPHIS, Tenn. AP--U. S. District Judge Marion S. Boyd Thursday ordered three southeast Missouri men jailed "in default of proper bonds of $50,000 each" on charges of attempted extortion.

Defendants are Walter Richarson, Jr., 38, of Portageville; and William R. McIntosh, 45, and Dale Wilson, 23, both of Sikeston associated with Wil-Mar Advertising Co., of Sikeston.

They were indicted May 18, charged with calling William Tanner, president of Pepper Sound Studios, Inc., in Memphis and demanding $5,000 to avoid bodily harm to Tanner's brother, Henry Faye Tanner.

The judge entered pleas of innocent for the men and urged them to obtain an attorney in time for trial June 16.

Mounted Patrol Begin Practice

The 20 members of the Semo Shrine Horse Patrol met for the first time this year to begin riding in preparation for their Semo Shrine Mounted Patrol Horse Show to be held May 31.

They have two new members this year, Clint Elledge and Weston Henry. It is announced that the patrol is to practice on Tuesday nights at their barn across from the Country Club.

As young as this new season is, they have already scheduled several events throughout Southeast Missouri and surrounding states. In Sikeston they are to participate in the Cotton Carnival and Rodeo Parades.

The purpose of the Shrine is to help send crippled children to the crippled children's hospital in St. Louis. The statewide organization has helped 1,137 youngsters get in the hospital for treatment this year.

Three Injured In Four Car Pile-up

In the only injuries reported in district highway accidents, three were in a single chain reaction at the Cane Creek bridge Thursday on Highway 67, eight miles south of Poplar Bluff. It was while road striping was being done when the first car, a 1963 Chevrolet, driven by Richard Nelson, St. Louis, had stopped, when a 1965 Chevrolet driven by Ira Sheppard, Paw Paw, Mich., stopped behind him. Donald Stautner, 33, Brookfield, Wisc., was the third car to make a stop, when his car was struck in the rear by Robert Haynes, York, Ill.

Three members of the Stautner family who received cuts and bruises were, Ruth Stautner, 21, and their two children, Donald 6 and Frank 5.

Farmers Can Expect Official Visits In New Madrid County

NEW MADRID: -- Farmers, county wide, can expect an official visit soon from one of twenty New Madrid County men who began work May 24 as reporters for the Agricultural Stabilization Committee Office located in New Madrid.

As reporters, these men will be measuring and computing acreages to insure compliance with the government's Feed Grain Program, including corn and diverted acres, and cotton allotments.

Eight or ten other reporters, along with five full-time computers, will join the original group during the first week of June, according to June C. Ransburgh, Chairman of the New Madrid County ASC.

Ransburgh said that the duration of this particular work will vary; however, first measure of every farm in the county should be completed by the end of June.

Following completion of the first measure, several farms will be re-measured. Those farms will include those which may have been overplanted and which may require a re-check to make sure that excess acres have been plowed under. Individual farmers, too, may request a re-measure.

When queried about who makes up his reporter force, Ransburgh replied that the county's thirty-three farm elected committee members are given the opportunity to fill these jobs first. Then other farm people are contacted as a source. Finally, teachers and college students who wish to work during summer vacations finish filling out the reporter ranks. This last group makes up a sizeable part of his workers, as the reporters are needed just when farm people are busiest with their own work.

Ransburgh said that regulations of the various acreage programs are quite complicated and emphasized that maturity of judgment is now a prime requisite for a reporter. Another factor that now makes measuring harder than normal is that many county farms have been cut in half (many at angles) by the construction of Interstate Highway 55 which is now in progress.

Earnings of reporters will vary, according to the chairman, because some will work for a longer period than others. However, those who work from June 1 until the end of the month can expect to earn in the neighborhood of $400. Reporters are paid at the rate of $18.50 per day and they work a six day week.

Max Thompson of New Madrid Route is the reporters' immediate supervisor. Joe Haubold of Marston is the assistant supervisor. Both are farmers.

Helicopters Collide

SAIGON, South Viet Nam AP -- Two U. S. Army helicopters collided in the air and crashed in flames today at the Bien Hoa Air Base. Nine Americans were killed and two seriously injured.

A 10th American, a Marine, was killed when Viet Cong guerrillas and U. S. Marines fought a grenade battle before dawn six miles west of the Chu Lai beachhead 52 miles south of Da Nang. It was the first serious attack on the Marine defenses at Chu Lai, where U. S. Navy Seabees are building a jet airstrip.

Ten Marines were wounded, two of them seriously. Six Viet Cong bodies were found and a wounded guerrilla was captured.

The two helicopters collided about 50 to 100 feet up and crashed in an open patch of ground 200 yards from the helicopter area of the Bien Hoa base 15 miles north of Saigon. Both were troop-carrying craft attached to the 118th U.S. Army Helicopter Company.

Eight of the occupants were killed outright and the ninth died three hours later in the base hospital.

Aviators from the company rushed to the scene and pulled the three injured men from the wreckage. Wreckage was strewn over a large area.

First reports said one of the helicopters was returning from Saigon with an Army helicopter crewman who had been injured several days ago in the foot by a Viet Cong bullet. He was returning to his unit.

The other ship reportedly was leaving the helicopter pad outside the Vietnamese 3rd Corps headquarters.

"They met at the same place," an eyewitness said.

The helicopters collided about 50 feet up. One burst into flames. The other appeared to break up in the air, then caught fire.

On May 16 a series of explosions smashed through lines of U.S. and Vietnamese bombers at the other side of the Bien Hoa base, killing 26 Americans and injuring more than 100. U.S. officials said that also was an accident, but an investigation is still under way.

Gehlert Speaks About 'Pencils'

By Dan Whittle
Daily Standard Staff

It has been said that the electronic computer has a more beneficial potential for the human race than any other invention in history . . . if man "instructs" the computer to perform usefully, that is.

The mysteries of converting business information into language a computer can understand were for the most part solved in a speech given by Robert W. Gehlert, vice president of marketing for Vance - Whitworth, Incorporated, before an interested group of 35 persons at the noontime meeting of the Sikeston Chamber of Commerce yesterday at the Holiday Inn.

As explained by Gehlert, the key to the whole thing is the right Input Device. And for the laymen present, Gehlert defined an Input Device as some kind of equipment which allows business data (orders, receipts, payments) to be communicated with a computer system.

"An Input Device, to be successful, must take on many of the characteristics of a pencil . . . must in effect be a pencil to the computer," he pointed out. "That means it should be simple and easy to operate, should be capable of being used on the spot where recording is needed," he said. "And another characteristic of the pencil an Input Device should possess is that it must be applicable to any type of business operation."

He continued, "The pencil has been widely accepted because it allows you to see what you are recording or communicating. It allows you to verify the accuracy of what was recorded.

"And this brings us to another feature which I have found to be the one flaw in the design of a common pencil. The erasers are too small. The 'pencil to the computer' must have the ability to remove errors," he said.

Robert W. Gehlert

In summary, Gehlert pointed out that the ideal Input Device for computers must have these characteristics: (1) simple and easy to operate (2) low cost for use where information is generated (3) applicable to any business operation and (4) visual recording of what was sent to the computer (5) control total capability for accuracy (6) capability of removing erroneous recordings or erasing.

Fortunately, such an Input Device is available for the world of business. And as members of the C of C audience suspected all along, it was developed and is being marketed successfully by Vance - Whitworth. Said Device may also soon be a source of civic pride, for Vance-Whitworth plans to manufacture this equipment here, when plans have been completed to move major portions of the firm here this summer.

Johnson Orders Withdrawal of 1700

By FRANK CORMIER

WACO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson announced today he is issuing orders to withdraw 1,700 American military men from the Dominican Republic.

But he warned at the same time that in the hemisphere "we can expect more efforts at triumph by terror and conquest through chaos." And he called for "new international machinery geared to meet fast-moving events."

In an address prepared for commencement exercises at Baylor University — once headed by his great grandfather George Washington Baines — Johnson said, "When forces of freedom move slowly —whether on political, economic or military fronts — the forces of slavery and subversion move rapidly and decisively."

The president said that one of the lessons learned during the past four weeks in the Dominican Republic is that "it is clear that we need new international machinery geared to meet fast-moving events."

"When hours can decide the fate of generations, the moment of decision must become the moment of action," he added.

The 1,700 troops the President said are being withdrawn are in addition to 1,600 he said have been withdrawn over the past two days.

And Johnson said he has instructed Lt. Gen. Bruce Palmer, commander of U.S. foces in the Dominican Republic, "to discuss possible further withdrawals" with Gen. Hugo Panasco Alvim of Brazil, commander of the Organization of American States forces in the revolt-torn Caribbean country.

Johnson said the necessity for quick action is one of "the new realities" made apparent by the Dominican situation.

The President has been criticized in some quarters for not advising other hemisphere nations before announcing his decision April 28 to send military forces to the Dominican Republic.

Today, in discussing the Communist threat within the hemisphere, Johnson said:

"We know that when a Communist group seeks to exploit misery, the entire free inter-American system is put in deadly danger. We also know that these dangers can be found today in many of our lands. There is no trouble anywhere these evil forces will not try to turn to their advantage. We can expect more efforts at triumph by terror and conquest through chaos."

The President, speaking of U.S. goals, said, "We want for the peoples of this hemisphere only what they want for themselves — liberty, justice, dignity, a better life."

Johnson said that more than a few agitators were needed "to bring on the tragic and cruel

Report From Photographer

EDITOR'S NOTE — Troops of the 173rd Airborne Brigade landed in South Viet Nam early this month. Pulitzer Prize-wining AP photographer Horst Faas accompanied a battalion on its first action against the Viet Cong. Here is his report.

By HORST FAAS
AP Photographer

VUNG TAU, South Viet Nam (AP) — Girls in bikinis were sunning and surfing as the three companies of paratroopers flew over this seaside resort. Artillery and bombs sounded sharply 15 miles away, softening up the landing zone.

The 173rd Airborne Brigade had landed in Viet Nam early this month. On Wednesday helicopters carried the 503rd Regiment's 1st Battalion into its first action against the Viet Cong. It was a frustrating experience with an elusive human enemy and relentless natural foes.

Sniper fire greeted the helicopters as they landed, then the guerrillas faded away. The men moved off in steaming tropical heat, two companies clambering up and over huge boulders toward the hills, the third moving through the valleys.

One main sprained an ankle. "Sure, I can go on. I'm airborne," he told his commander and hobbled off.

Throughout the afternoon the troops fought climbing jungle vines and thorns. Mosquitoes attacked in swarms. Faces, hands and arms were streaked with blood from bites and the snags of thorns and vines. But at times the vines came in handy as the heavily loaded troops pulled themselves up sheer rocks and cliffs.

A heavy tropical rain set in at dark, making things cooler but making the bush and the rocks slippery. The paratroopers still wore smooth-soled jump boots though they hope to be issued cleated jungle boots soon.

They found an abandoned Viet Cong lookout with an excellent view of the airfield at Vung Tau and the highway leading from the town. They blew up the post and moved on up into the hills, struggling over the rain-slick rocks with their 50-caliber machine guns, bazookas, mortars and ammunition.

They bedded down for the night in a downpour. The day's pouring sweat turned into shivering cold. No fires or smoking were permitted. A helicopter hovered over a hacked out clearing and dropped C rations and jerry cans of water.

During the night the Americans could hear Vietnamese artillery firing near by and one firefight between Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

At daybreak they moved off again and saw a man perched in the trees, peering through foliage apparently as an observer for the Viet Cong. The troops held their fire, under orders not to open up unless they could see a weapon. He vanished in the thick bush.

Hospital Service Being Disrupted

LOS ANGELES AP -- A county official says resident physicians and interns at Los Angeles County General Hospital, miffed by a pay raise of less than $10 a month, are flooding the huge facility with patients.

He says the doctors are calling it a "heal in."

County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, who said the protest was described to his office Thursday, called it "a deliberate plan to disrupt good hospital service."

Hahn said the strategy among the 200 interns and 350 physicians was to admit as many patients as possible, and at the same time, retain patients longer than normally would be the case.

Dr. Richard Boggs, president of the intern-resident protest group, declined to discuss the situation with newsmen.

Hospital administrators said there was a 25 per cent increase in admissions Thursday and a 40 per cent drop in discharges. But county officials said steps were being taken by administrative officials for forestall the effort. They termed the campaign "curbed."

Hahn said a delegation from the Interns and Residents Association visited his office and announced that a "heal in" was in progress.

The 3,300-bed facility is one of the largest general hospitals in the nation.

Dr. William Evans, the hospital's medical director, said the protest group promised "that nothing will be done which interferes with the best care available to patients."

The doctors had asked for a flat rate of $400 monthly for interns and a sliding scale for resident physicians rising over a five-year period from $510 to $713 a month.

But under a salary ordinance approved Thursday, interns will get $330 to start and $337 after six months of service -- plus room and board. Resident physicians, starting July 1, will receive from $435 to $645 a month.

Symington Pleads For Funds

WASHINGTON AP -- A Senate appropriations subcommittee was urged Thursday by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., to provide $51,298,000 this year to continue work on Missouri water projects -- $12,895,000 more than is in the President's budget.

Symington said his proposals would increase from $7 million to $14 million the appropriation for Kaysinger Bluff Reservoir.

Appropriations over budget recommendations were requested for:

Stockton Reservoir construction, from $10.5 to $13 million; Charlton River Flood control construction from $1.1 to $2.5 million; Missouri River channel stabilization from Omaha to Kansas City, $4.2 to $4.8 million; and for survey of the Big Blue River at Kansas City, $25,000 to $30,000.

Money for these projects not included in the budget also was asked by Symington: Joanna Dam and Reservoir, land acquisition and construction $1 million; Union Reservoir, Meremec Basin, planning $200,000; Pattonsburg Reservoir, planning subject to authorization of Grand Basin projects, $100,000.

Commencement To Be Inside

If it is raining tonight the Sikeston High School commencement exercises will be held in the high school gymnasium at 7:00. Each senior has been given two tickets for their parents to attend. A person not having tickets will not be allowed to enter the exercises in the gymnasium.

President Lyndon Johnson's foreign policy is being criticized by many of the nation's liberals, college professors, screwballs, beatniks, Communists and fellow travelers. It suits us fine.

It is about time that the American people learn that the rest of the world expects this country to lead, but that there isn't always time to obtain agreement before acting. Criticism cannot always be avoided.

A great deal of nonsense has been written about the failure to get the approval of the Organization of American States before this country acted to save the Dominican Republic from being overrun by the Communists as was Cuba. Fidel Castro is a very dangerous man to the defense of this country not because he is a strong military threat himself as the Cuban dictator of a Communist slave state, but because he is in a wonderful position to export subversion throughout the rest of the hemisphere. The nation should be on guard and President Johnson is ready, willing and able to do something about it. We applaud him for having the courage to act. If the United States had waited for OAS approval in the Dominican Republic it would have been too late.

If American soldiers are fighting anywhere in the world they should now be fighting in Cuba instead of Viet Nam, but since the United States missed an opportunity to help drive Castro from power and the country is committed to saving South Viet Nam from being overwhelmed by the Communist Viet Cong, it has the obligation to act. This President Johnson has done.

This country has made many mistakes in what might be described as mild appeasement. There is the Berlin wall. There is divided Germany because this country made the mistake of permitting Russia to occupy part of this country after World War II. There is the Cuban Bay of Pigs. Our failure to act affirmatively and constructively in all these situations has cost the United States prestige in the eyes of the world and has encouraged the Communists to be bold in their effort to subvert the rest of the world and deliver other nations into slavery.

In Korea this country won at least half a loaf. It is a good question whether the United States acted properly but at least our fighting men prevented all of Korea from being swallowed up by the red hordes.

This country cannot permit one country after another to be gobbled up by the Communists. Our interest is involved.

President Johnson knows this. It is a pity that all Americans don't understand it.

'THE SOUND OF MUSIC'

For someone who was not overly enthusiastic about "The Sound of Music" when it was performed on a Chicago stage by professionals, we found the play quite delightful when presented in Kennett Saturday night by the Sikeston Little Theatre group. Judging from the applause given the performers by the Kennett area audience, we can conclude the feeling was shared by several hundred others.

The Sikeston group, directed by Hope Terrell, did an excellent job on this musical version of the Von Trapp family who fled Austria in the 1930's and settled in America.

One of the outstanding performances of the evening was given by Mrs. JoAnne Fox, who played the difficult and demanding role of Maria Rainer. Mrs. Fox is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ashbaugh of Clarkton, and her performance was most outstanding. But there were others, too, including the seven children who played their counterparts in the Von Trapp family, who displayed a professional quality seldom seen in amateur productions.

For a near-capacity Kennett audience the play was not only a most enjoyable one, it was a remarkable demonstration of the high-quality performances which home talent is capable of giving. The Sikeston production of "The Sound of Music" was both entertaining and challenging.

The same quality can be achieved right here -- with proper leadership, interest and devotion to the arts.

We are in debt to the Sikeston Little Theatre, not only for a most enjoyable evening but also for a demonstration of what can be achieved in one's own community.

The poet Robert Burns said, "The plans of mice and men often go astray," but there is ample evidence a well planned community creates pleasant living conditions, is attractive to industry and is on the path of growth and progress.

The director of the Planning Section of the Missouri Division of Commerce and Industrial Development, Robert Simonds said, "A town or community that expects to grow and progress must look ahead. The individual problems of communities are mounting and becoming more complex, but there is a corresponding gain in knowledge of how to deal with these problems. The far sighted community will take advantage of these opportunities and benefit from them."

The Director said his office stands ready and able to help communities who expressed the desire to help themselves. He said, "Examples of blind growth and undirected change are commonplace. However, solutions to the problems may be obtained, but not until there is an understanding on the part of the general public and public officials as to the necessity of obtaining professional knowledge and 'steering'. The 'steering' is called planning and the objective of the planning process is to develop a guide for orderly community growth and change."

Simonds cited reasons for many communities failing to meet the standards for pleasant living conditions and being attractive to industry. "A junk yard or dumping area may spring up at the entrance to an otherwise attractive town," he stated. "Paving on the town square and side streets may be neglected. A late night business enterprise may be allowed to start near a residential neighborhood, an eight inch water or sewage main may be installed where a 16 inch main may soon be needed or a new school may be planned and its location completely undesirable for potential growth.

"These and many other things may curtail the growth and prosperity of a community and we may be able to help communities faced with these problems who want help."

POWER OF THE PERSONAL

A few personal words penned by the sender on a Christmas card, birthday card, get-well card, or a greeting card of any kind always adds a radiance and glow that cannot be achieved in any other way. People like the personal touch.

Little notes of thankfulness and appreciation also add joy to life. Those who take the time to drop a few lines to an author saying they liked his book, or to a committee chairman who has done a good job, or to their minister for preaching a fine sermon, are giving mental lifts that will spur men on in what are often lonely and thankless tasks.

For every person who writes a note there are probably a hundred who were appreciative and intended to write but never got around to doing it. This is a case in point in which silence does not speak as eloquently as words! Personal notes are "flowers" to the living!

The more the Marxists talk, the more they begin to sound like capitalists.

Premier Kosygin has announced that Russia's next five-year plan will concentrate on raising both the production of consumer goods, with emphasis on private cars, and the incomes of workers so that they will be able to buy the new goods.

Voicing words that could have come from any Western textbook on capitalism, Kosygin added a caution:

"Wages must be placed in direct relationship to increases in labor productivity and growth of production."

Speaking of capitalists and capitalism, however, as Michigan Gov. George Romney did the other day, these are words that in his opinion ought to be dropped from the vocabulary because our use of them plays into the hands of Communist propagandists.

"Around the world," he said, "capitalism is usually considered as an economic system in which the economy is controlled by the few, who benefit from the efforts of the many."

The system we actually have, said Romney, (is "consumerism." Ultimate control of the economy rests with the many -- "through the free and daily economic balloting of customers in the marketplace."

America, said Romney, buried classical capitalism long ago, whether we know it or not.

It may well be that Kosygin and Company, successors to Khrushchev Enterprises, are doing the same thing with communism -- whether they know it or not.

With the Dominican crisis sputtering to an end, at least in its shooting phase, second-guessers are arguing over the wisdom of President Johnson's rapid dispatching of American troops to their first landing on the soil of a Latin nation in more than a generation.

One question that occupies some critics is whether or not there ever really was any danger of a Communist takeover of the Dominican Republic. The New York Times, for one, observed that since U. S. troops had intervened, "no one any longer will be able to prove or disprove the thesis that a rebel victory would have brought a Communist government to Santo Domingo."

Presumably, the President should have waited until the new government had signed a trade agreement with the Soviet Union and Russian technicians had begun arriving, perhaps being spared from their duties in Cuba.

Others decry the great damage done the Good Neighbor-Policy and the concept of inter-American co-operation and equality and nonintervention in internal affairs, so laboriously built up over the years, by this alleged return to "gunboat diplomacy."

The fact is, however, that the Dominican revolution would have long been over before the Organization of American States could have decided on the need for action, and taken such action, had the United States sat back and waited upon its advice and consent.

The whole Dominican question, of course, should be debated in the councils of the OAS. But it is thanks to the United States that the problem confronting us and our Latin fellow members today is that of building stable democracy in the Dominican Republic and not what to do about another Communist foothold in the Western Hemisphere.

LITTLE CHILDREN SHOULD NEVER BE LEFT ALONE

Because of a rash of fires throughout the nation in which children have lost their lives, the American Insurance Association today urged parents to never leave little children at home alone -- not even for a few minutes.

The Association estimates that of the more than 11,000 persons who died in fires last year, 2,-200 were children under five years old. Several times that number received bad burns in home fires.

If you must go out, arrange to have an adult or a responsible teenager stay with the children until you return.

And at all times keep matches out of the reach of children.

IF YOU REALLY WANT TO KNOW

Most headaches are emotional. They are seldom caused by eyes, sinus infections or allergies, and never by constipation.

This is the judgment of one of the world's foremost authorities on the subject, Dr. Arnold P. Friedman, psychiatrist-neurologist who is head of the famed "Heacache Unit" of New York's Montefiori Hospital.

Quoted by Theodore Berland, writing in the AMA publication "Your Health," Dr. Friedman says: "Over and above all, headaches are related to the individual's reaction to the total life situation and how he handles it."

What to do about the "ordinary" headache? Take an aspirin along with a cup of coffee, a good walk or a nap; relax for awhile.

But evidently the relief effort can be overdone, as the makers of Bayer aspirin have frequently warned. Mr. Berland quotes Dr. Malcolm M. Fifield of Duluth, Minn., as saying that "the very drugs you take to combat a headache can cause a headache. This is particularly true if you take too many APC pills - a mixture aspirin-phenacetin - caffeine."

And it is comforting to learn that headaches are caused "by life - threatening diseases" in perhaps only one person in a hundred who suffer this widely misunderstood complaint.

For most of us then, the rules for headache are simple: To avoid skull - busters, guard against frustration, fury and emotional upheaval. And if you can't keep cool, keep aspirin.

WHAT YOU CAN DO

If you sincerely believe in freedom and in patriotism, you can do something about it as the best are doing.

Only a very few people can afford to give their full time to this cause. Many mistakenly believe that there is no place for the part-time advocate of American principles.

Every time you speak up for our personal liberties, for our Constitution, for our national independence, you are doing something important for the cause you believe in. It is well if what you say can be heard by many. But it is better to reach one with a message he will remember and act upon, than a hundred who will listen casually and then forget.

Every time you help to guide a young person along the road to an understanding of our heritage and of the meaning of liberty, you are doing something important for the cause you believe in. Our young people are the future of this country. If they do not forget freedom they will learn how to keep it.

Try to make patriotism a pleasant diversion or outright fun. Be happy in your conviction that your cause is right. Do not go about with a long face. We all feel gloomy and disheartened at times, but we must never give others the impression that a belief in liberty brings gloom and despair. Instead it brings joy and happiness.

Don't criticize the press for anyone can complain; instead commend the writers you find who love our country and pass on to them "good news" for freedom. HLH

With Decoys Like These We'll Have Over The Limit In No Time

Hal Boyle

A site was cleared atop one of the peaks that tower up to 6,000 feet in wild and lonely green beauty. As there are no good roads, everything had to be flown in.

At a cost of $4 million to $5 million, an airstrip was built on a 1,600-foot-high plateau. Construction was begun on the foundations for the palace. Then Diem was killed during a politicla coup, and his unfinished palace hideaway now stands as a mute memorial to his vanished dream.

On the plateau now is a training camp for civilian irregular defense groups, quasi-soldier volunteers whose job is to protect isolated villages from Viet Cong raids.

"It's pretty much like garrison life anywhere except when we go out on operations against the Viet Cong. But I'll say one thing--these are the most miserable mountains and Godawful jungles anyone on a patrol ever saw."

Davidson could be forgiven a bit of homesickness. He was married only three months ago, and a month later had to leave his bride to come to this isolated outpost in a strange land.

To an outsider these lonely circles of security in an enemy sea seem terribly vulnerable to mass attacks. The airstrips are their only lifeline to the outside world.

"We could be overrun," acknowledged the unworried lieutenant, "but they'd have to spend an awful lot of people to do it--more people than they can afford.

"After all, this place is pretty well defended with prepared positions, concrete bunkers and miles of barbed wire and mine fields."

Aside from the guerrillas, the mountains and plateaus abound in many forms of wild game, including elephants and tigers. None of the Americans here has had a chance to go hunting for them, however.

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — There is more than meets the eye in the unanimous Supreme Court decision slapping down Glenn Cunningham, the rabble-rousing Congressman from Omaha, and his attempt to restrict Communist literature from the U.S. mails.

No. 1 — The decision will have repercussions on the election of the next mayor of New York.

No. 2 — It should give more backbone to politicians in both the Republican and Democratic parties when it comes to standing up against witch-hunting.

Up in New York City where the Republican party is grooming a new hopeful, John Lindsay, for mayor, later for President, the Supreme Court decision will strengthen his prestige. For only two Congressmen, John Lindsay and William Fitz Ryan, Democrat, had the courage to vote against the Cunningham amendment.

The Congressman from Omaha had made it appear that anyone was pro-Communist who voted against his requirement that those who wanted Communist mail delivered to them must notify the Post Office. As a result of his forensics every member of the House chickened on the constitutional right for freedom to read except Lindsay an Ryan.

Last January, Ryan, a Democrat, had the courage to stand up on the House floor and challenge the right of Mississippi Congressmen to take their seats because of Mississippi's denial of Negro voting rights. No one expected him to get more than a handful of votes, but he rolled up so many that sentiment has now swung in his direction and the Mississippi Congressmen may well be unseated.

—McCARTHYISM REVIVED—

To get the full significance of the Supreme Court's decision you have to go back to 1961, which was six years after Senate censure of the late Joe McCarthy brought an end to witch-hunting. Supposedly McCarthyism was dead. However, GOP Congressmen Cunningham, darling of the John Birchites, Rev. Billy James Hargis and the Texas oil tycoons, seized on the Communist mail issue and fanned it. Since the United States wants its literature sent through the mails of Communist countries, it does not object to having Communist literature sent through our mails. In addition, as the Supreme Court has now held, the Constitution provides that any citizen shall have the right to read what he wants.

Since the Kennedy Administration wanted to raise postal rates more than it wanted to protect civil liberties, it didn't object. Only one man in the Post Office Department, Tyler Abell of the legal division, did his best to block the amendment. It finally passed the House in January 1962 after Rep. Ryan tried his best to defeat it. Only his Republican colleague Lindsay voted with him.

In the Senate hearings, Cunningham made an impassioned plea for adoption, deliberately twisting the facts. But the Kennedy Administration sent word to get the postal-rate increase adopted no matter what; to pass the question of constitutionality on to the Supreme Court. This was what finally happened.

—ED MURROW'S PLEA—

The late Edward R. Murrow, already seriously ill, dragged himself down to the Senate Post-Office hearings to make a dramatic plea in opposition to the Cunningham amendment. He told how the U.S. Information Agency had worked to get U.S. propaganda distributed in foreign countries and how this was sure to undo all our efforts.

His plea fell on frightened ears. The Senate Post-Office Committee voted the easy course. And on the Senate floor the only Senator with the courage to stand up and fight was Joe Clark, the ex-mayor of Philadelphia, who, working with Post Office attorney Tyler Abell, drafted three amendments.

The first, to kill the Cunningham amendment altogether, got nowhere. Most Senators agreed that the Communist mail restriction was unconstitutional but they were scared out of their wits by the Billy Hargises and the Birchites. They passed the buck to the Supreme Court.

On Clark's second amendment, a milder version, he won over 23 Senators. But he still lost. His third amendment passed the buck to the President by giving him the power to restrict Communist mail "if in the national interest." Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the majority leader, supported this.

"Does the Senator speak for the Administration when he makes this recommendation?" asked Sen. Tom Kuchel.

"I speak for the Senator from Montana," replied Mansfield, hastily making it clear that President Kennedy was taking no part in the controversy.

Even on this vote, Sen. Clark got only 33 votes. Again he lost. Among those who had the courage to stand up and be counted were several Senators up for election later who had some reason to fear the right wing backlash of an apparent vote for Communism.

Among them were Burdick, N.D., Carroll, Colo., Jackson, Wash., McCarthy, Minn., McGee, Wyo., Moss, Utah, Muskie, Me., Pastore, R.I., Randolph, W. Va., Williams, N.J., Yarborough, Tex., Young, Ohio, Church, Idaho, Symington, Mo. They voted their convictions, not political expediency. Every one of them was re-elected except Carroll of Colorado.

All of which would indicate that McCarthyism is just about as dead as its author, even if some Senators and the vast majority of the House don't know it.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Evidence of Mass Communist Apparatus Now Operating In Santo Domingo Is in Hands of U. S. Labor Chiefs

Washington, D. C.:--At 10:15 a.m. Tuesday, May 25, a Dominican long-distance operator rang the phone of a tense, harried man who had been waiting in hiding.

She told him his call to the national AFL-CIO headquarters in Washington could be put through. Quickly, Roland Leonard, the anti-Communist Latin American labor movement's man in Santo Domingo spoke to his American contact, Andy McLellan.

From the rush of words pouring in from Santo Domingo, McLellan learned that the anti-Communist union headquarters, the offices of "Conatral," had been sacked. The place had been looted. The files had been pruned for select names and then burned.

That morning, according to Rolando Leonard, a man whom he knew to be a tough Communist activist had taken control of the anti-Castro labor headquarters and kept it by virtue of an ever-ready machine gun.

I remember the "Conatral" headquarters well. I have spoken there in its open air second floor hall which once was a medical clinic. The freedom - loving, anti-Communist labor leaders who introduced me to a membership meeting now are refugees.

They found asylum in the offices of the American Institute for Free Labor Development--an organization jointly operated by U. S. labor leaders and executives of over 60 U. S. firms seeking to raise the living standards, especially housing, in Latin America.

Those Dominican labor leaders whom I had known had to flee their own headquarters because it is on Avenida Mella --in the rebel zone.

There was much more to the swift conversation between Senor Leonard, who for three years has been the representative of the Inter-American Regional Organization of Workers (ORIT) and Mr. McLellan, who heads the AFL-CIO's Latin-American section. There had been many such transoceanic reports.

It is important to point out that these reports have come from labor sources, not from any political faction or from any military leaders there.

That is why the AFL-CIO high command issued a virtually ignored statement of principles on May 19 which supported U. S. intervention and said:

"The Executive Council, acting on reports from its own investigators on the spot, declares its unequivocal support of the measures, taken to date, by President Johnson to meet these critical situations."

These dispatches disclose conditions far more drastic than anything the White House has yet revealed.

It is the belief of Mr. McLellan and his labor colleagues that there are many scores of high ranking, skilled Communist operatives in the Dominican Republic now.

Furthermore, some of them have been in the U. S. and are accomplished Communist espionage agents. This accounts for the presence of an FBI team in Santo Domingo.

In addition, the Communist apparatus now is running guns and ammunition into the mountains in preparation for assaults on any provisional government set up by the OAS.

Also, the Communists now have heavily infiltrated unions (independent of "Conatral") and will exert powerful influence in such strategic areas as the sugar plantations, the ports, the construction industry and the government service--unless they are immediately rooted out.

There are three powerful pro-Communist forces now in the area identified as the rebel zone, according to the U. S. labor leaders. One is pro-Peking; a second is pro-Moscow and pro - Castro; a third is simply pro-Castro. The most powerful of these is the 14th of June Movement which has a sizeable union force ready for general strike action.

Having documented all this, the AFL-CIO Executive Council--though it went unnoticed--put itself on record the other day with the following:

"The crises in Viet Nam and Santo Domingo, though continents apart, are basically interrelated. They must be faced in the context of the entire world crisis.

"To date, Castro has made three attempts to intervene in Santo Domingo and foist a Communist dictatorship on the Dominican people.

"In Santo Domingo, as in Viet Nam, our country seeks only to thwart a new and most dangerous form of intervention by the fifth columns of Communist imperialism."

These are the words of men who lead 13 million American working people. In this context, what can be more significant?

President Lyndon Johnson's foreign policy is being criticized by many of the nation's liberals, college professors, screwballs, beatniks, Communists and fellow travelers. It suits us fine.

It is about time that the American people learn that the rest of the world expects this country to lead, but that there isn't always time to obtain agreement before acting. Criticism cannot always be avoided.

A great deal of nonsense has been written about the failure to get the approval of the Organization of American States before this country acted to save the Dominican Republic from being overrun by the Communists as was Cuba. Fidel Castro is a very dangerous man to the defense of this country not because he is a strong military threat himself as the Cuban dictator of a Communist slave state, but because he is in a wonderful position to export subversion throughout the rest of the hemisphere. The nation should be on guard and President Johnson is ready, willing and able to do something about it. We applaud him for having the courage to act. If the United States had waited for OAS approval in the Dominican Republic it would have been too late.

If American soldiers are fighting anywhere in the world they should now be fighting in Cuba instead of Viet Nam, but since the United States missed an opportunity to help drive Castro from power and the country is committed to saving South Viet Nam from being overwhelmed by the Communist Viet Cong, it has the obligation to act. This President Johnson has done.

This country has made many mistakes in what might be described as mild appeasement. There is the Berlin wall. There is divided Germany because this country made the mistake of permitting Russia to occupy part of this country after World War II. There is the Cuban Bay of Pigs. Our failure to act affirmatively and constructively in all these situations has cost the United States prestige in the eyes of the world and has encouraged the Communists to be bold in their effort to subvert the rest of the world and deliver other nations into slavery.

In Korea this country won at least half a loaf. It is a good question whether the United States acted properly but at least our fighting men prevented all of Korea from being swallowed up by the red hordes.

This country cannot permit one country after another to be gobbled up by the Communists. Our interest is involved.

President Johnson knows this. It is a pity that all Americans don't understand it.

'THE SOUND OF MUSIC'

For someone who was not overly enthusiastic about "The Sound of Music" when it was performed on a Chicago stage by professionals, we found the play quite delightful when presented in Kennett Saturday night by the Sikeston Little Theatre group. Judging from the applause given the performers by the Kennett area audience, we can conclude the feeling was shared by several hundred others.

The Sikeston group, directed by Hope Terrell, did an excellent job on this musical version of the Von Trapp family who fled Austria in the 1930's and settled in America.

One of the outstanding performances of the evening was given by Mrs. JoAnne Fox, who played the difficult and demanding role of Maria Rainer. Mrs. Fox is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ashbaugh of Clarkton, and her performance was most outstanding. But there were others, too, including the seven children who played their counterparts in the Von Trapp family, who displayed a professional quality seldom seen in amateur productions.

For a near-capacity Kennett audience the play was not only a most enjoyable one, it was a remarkable demonstration of the high-quality performances which home talent is capable of giving. The Sikeston production of "The Sound of Music" was both entertaining and challenging.

The same quality can be achieved right here -- with proper leadership, interest and devotion to the arts.

We are in debt to the Sikeston Little Theatre, not only for a most enjoyable evening but also for a demonstration of what can be achieved in one's own community.

The poet Robert Burns said, "The plans of mice and men often go astray," but there is ample evidence a well planned community creates pleasant living conditions, is attractive to industry and is on the path of growth and progress.

The director of the Planning Section of the Missouri Division of Commerce and Industrial Development, Robert Simonds said, "A town or community that expects to grow and progress must look ahead. The individual problems of communities are mounting and becoming more complex, but there is a corresponding gain in knowledge of how to deal with these problems. The far sighted community will take advantage of these opportunities and benefit from them."

The Director said his office stands ready and able to help communities who expressed the desire to help themselves. He said, "Examples of blind growth and undirected change are commonplace. However, solutions to the problems may be obtained, but not until there is an understanding on the part of the general public and public officials as to the necessity of obtaining professional knowledge and 'steering'. The 'steering' is called planning and the objective of the planning process is to develop a guide for orderly community growth and change."

Simonds cited reasons for many communities failing to meet the standards for pleasant living conditions and being attractive to industry. "A junk yard or dumping area may spring up at the entrance to an otherwise attractive town," he stated. "Paving on the town square and side streets may be neglected. A late night business enterprise may be allowed to start near a residential neighborhood, an eight inch water or sewage main may be installed where a 16 inch main may soon be needed or a new school may be planned and its location completely undesirable for potential growth.

"These and many other things may curtail the growth and prosperity of a community and we may be able to help communities faced with these problems who want help."

POWER OF THE PERSONAL

A few personal words penned by the sender on a Christmas card, birthday card, get-well card, or a greeting card of any kind always adds a radiance and glow that cannot be achieved in any other way. People like the personal touch.

Little notes of thankfulness and appreciation also add joy to life. Those who take the time to drop a few lines to an author saying they liked his book, or to a committee chairman who has done a good job, or to their minister for preaching a fine sermon, are giving mental lifts that will spur men on in what are often lonely and thankless tasks.

For every person who writes a note there are probably a hundred who were appreciative and intended to write but never got around to doing it. This is a case in point in which silence does not speak as eloquently as words! Personal notes are "flowers" to the living!

The more the Marxists talk, the more they begin to sound like capitalists.

Premier Kosygin has announced that Russia's next five-year plan will concentrate on raising both the production of consumer goods, with emphasis on private cars, and the incomes of workers so that they will be able to buy the new goods.

Voicing words that could have come from any Western textbook on capitalism, Kosygin added a caution:

"Wages must be placed in direct relationship to increases in labor productivity and growth of production."

Speaking of capitalists and capitalism, however, as Michigan Gov. George Romney did the other day, these are words that in his opinion ought to be dropped from the vocabulary because our use of them plays into the hands of Communist propagandists.

"Around the world," he said, "capitalism is usually considered as an economic system in which the economy is controlled by the few, who benefit from the efforts of the many."

The system we actually have, said Romney, (is "consumerism." Ultimate control of the economy rests with the many -- "through the free and daily economic balloting of customers in the marketplace."

America, said Romney, buried classical capitalism long ago, whether we know it or not.

It may well be that Kosygin and Company, successors to Khrushchev Enterprises, are doing the same thing with communism -- whether they know it or not.

With the Dominican crisis sputtering to an end, at least in its shooting phase, second-guessers are arguing over the wisdom of President Johnson's rapid dispatching of American troops to their first landing on the soil of a Latin nation in more than a generation.

One question that occupies some critics is whether or not there ever really was any danger of a Communist takeover of the Dominican Republic. The New York Times, for one, observed that since U. S. troops had intervened, "no one any longer will be able to prove or disprove the thesis that a rebel victory would have brought a Communist government to Santo Domingo."

Presumably, the President should have waited until the new government had signed a trade agreement with the Soviet Union and Russian technicians had begun arriving, perhaps being spared from their duties in Cuba.

Others decry the great damage done the Good Neighbor-Policy and the concept of inter-American co-operation and equality and nonintervention in internal affairs, so laboriously built up over the years, by this alleged return to "gunboat diplomacy."

The fact is, however, that the Dominican revolution would have long been over before the Organization of American States could have decided on the need for action, and taken such action, had the United States sat back and waited upon its advice and consent.

The whole Dominican question, of course, should be debated in the councils of the OAS. But it is thanks to the United States that the problem confronting us and our Latin fellow members today is that of building stable democracy in the Dominican Republic and not what to do about another Communist foothold in the Western Hemisphere.

Our young people are the future of this country. If they do not forget freedom they will learn how to keep it.

Try to make patriotism a pleasant diversion or outright fun. Be happy in your conviction that your cause is right. Do not go about with a long face. We all feel gloomy and disheartened at times, but we must never give others the impression that a belief in liberty brings gloom and despair. Instead it brings joy and happiness.

Don't criticize the press for anyone can complain; instead commend the writers you find who love our country and pass on to them "good news" for freedom. HLH

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — There is more than meets the eye in the unanimous Supreme Court decision slapping down Glenn Cunningham, the rabble-rousing Congressman from Omaha, and his attempt to restrict Communist literature from the U.S. mails.

No. 1 — The decision will have repercussions on the election of the next mayor of New York.

No. 2 — It should give more backbone to politicians in both the Republican and Democratic parties when it comes to standing up against witch-hunting.

Up in New York City where the Republican party is grooming a new hopeful, John Lindsay, for mayor, later for President, the Supreme Court decision will strengthen his prestige. For only two Congressmen, John Lindsay and William Fitz Ryan, Democrat, had the courage to vote against the Cunningham amendment.

The Congressman from Omaha had made it appear that anyone was pro-Communist who voted against his requirement that those who wanted Communist mail delivered to them must notify the Post Office. As a result of his forensics every member of the House chickened on the constitutional right for freedom to read except Lindsay an Ryan.

Last January, Ryan, a Democrat, had the courage to stand up on the House floor and challenge the right of Mississippi Congressmen to take their seats because of Mississippi's denial of Negro voting rights. No one expected him to get more than a handful of votes, but he rolled up so many that sentiment has now swung in his direction and the Mississippi Congressmen may well be unseated.

—McCARTHYISM REVIVED—

To get the full significance of the Supreme Court's decision you have to go back to 1961, which was six years after Senate censure of the late Joe McCarthy brought an end to witch-hunting. Supposedly McCarthyism was dead. However, GOP Congressmen Cunningham, darling of the John Birchites, Rev. Billy James Hargis and the Texas oil tycoons, seized on the Communist mail issue and fanned it. Since the United States wants its literature sent through the mails of Communist countries, it does not object to having Communist literature sent through our mails. In addition, as the Supreme Court has now held, the Constitution provides that any citizen shall have the right to read what he wants.

Since the Kennedy Administration wanted to raise postal rates more than it wanted to protect civil liberties, it didn't object. Only one man in the Post Office Department, Tyler Abell of the legal division, did his best to block the amendment. It finally passed the House in January 1962 after Rep. Ryan tried his best to defeat it. Only his Republican colleague Lindsay voted with him.

In the Senate hearings, Cunningham made an impassioned plea for adoption, deliberately twisting the facts. But the Kennedy Administration sent word to get the postal-rate increase adopted no matter what; to pass the question of constitutionality on to the Supreme Court. This was what finally happened.

—ED MURROW'S PLEA—

The late Edward R. Murrow, already seriously ill, dragged himself down to the Senate Post-Office hearings to make a dramatic plea in opposition to the Cunningham amendment. He told how the U.S. Information Agency had worked to get U.S. propaganda distributed in foreign countries and how this was sure to undo all our efforts.

His plea fell on frightened ears. The Senate Post-Office Committee voted the easy course. And on the Senate floor the only Senator with the courage to stand up and fight was Joe Clark, the ex-mayor of Philadelphia, who, working with Post Office attorney Tyler Abell, drafted three amendments.

The first, to kill the Cunningham amendment altogether, got nowhere. Most Senators agreed that the Communist mail restriction was unconstitutional but they were scared out of their wits by the Billy Hargises and the Birchites. They passed the buck to the Supreme Court.

On Clark's second amendment, a milder version, he won over 23 Senators. But he still lost. His third amendment passed the buck to the President by giving him the power to restrict Communist mail "if in the national interest." Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the majority leader, supported this.

"Does the Senator speak for the Administration when he makes this recommendation?" asked Sen. Tom Kuchel.

"I speak for the Senator from Montana," replied Mansfield, hastily making it clear that President Kennedy was taking no part in the controversy.

Even on this vote, Sen. Clark got only 33 votes. Again he lost. Among those who had the courage to stand up and be counted were several Senators up for election later who had some reason to fear the right wing backlash of an apparent vote for Communism.

Among them were Burdick, N.D., Carroll, Colo., Jackson, Wash., McCarthy, Minn., McGee, Wyo., Moss, Utah, Muskie, Me., Pastore, R.I., Randolph, W. Va., Williams, N.J., Yarborough, Tex., Young, Ohio, Church, Idaho, Symington, Mo. They voted their convictions, not political expediency. Every one of them was re-elected except Carroll of Colorado.

All of which would indicate that McCarthyism is just about as dead as its author, even if some Senators and the vast majority of the House don't know it.

A site was cleared atop one of the peaks that tower up to 6,000 feet in wild and lonely green beauty. As there are no good roads, everything had to be flown in.

At a cost of $4 million to $5 million, an airstrip was built on a 1,600-foot-high plateau. Construction was begun on the foundations for the palace. Then Diem was killed during a politicla coup, and his unfinished palace hideaway now stands as a mute memorial to his vanished dream.

On the plateau now is a training camp for civilian irregular defense groups, quasi-soldier volunteers whose job is to protect isolated villages from Viet Cong raids.

"It's pretty much like garrison life anywhere except when we go out on operations against the Viet Cong. But I'll say one thing--these are the most miserable mountains and Godawful jungles anyone on a patrol ever saw."

Davidson could be forgiven a bit of homesickness. He was married only three months ago, and a month later had to leave his bride to come to this isolated outpost in a strange land.

To an outsider these lonely circles of security in an enemy sea seem terribly vulnerable to mass attacks. The airstrips are their only lifeline to the outside world.

"We could be overrun," acknowledged the unworried lieutenant, "but they'd have to spend an awful lot of people to do it--more people than they can afford.

"After all, this place is pretty well defended with prepared positions, concrete bunkers and miles of barbed wire and mine fields."

Aside from the guerrillas, the mountains and plateaus abound in many forms of wild game, including elephants and tigers. None of the Americans here has had a chance to go hunting for them, however.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Evidence of Mass Communist Apparatus Now Operating In Santo Domingo Is in Hands of U. S. Labor Chiefs

Washington, D. C.:--At 10:15 a.m. Tuesday, May 25, a Dominican long-distance operator rang the phone of a tense, harried man who had been waiting in hiding.

She told him his call to the national AFL-CIO headquarters in Washington could be put through. Quickly, Roland Leonard, the anti-Communist Latin American labor movement's man in Santo Domingo spoke to his American contact, Andy McLellan.

From the rush of words pouring in from Santo Domingo, McLellan learned that the anti-Communist union headquarters, the offices of "Conatral," had been sacked. The place had been looted. The files had been pruned for select names and then burned.

That morning, according to Rolando Leonard, a man whom he knew to be a tough Communist activist had taken control of the anti-Castro labor headquarters and kept it by virtue of an ever-ready machine gun.

I remember the "Conatral" headquarters well. I have spoken there in its open air second floor hall which once was a medical clinic. The freedom - loving, anti-Communist labor leaders who introduced me to a membership meeting now are refugees.

They found asylum in the offices of the American Institute for Free Labor Development--an organization jointly operated by U. S. labor leaders and executives of over 60 U. S. [illegible] seeking to raise the living standards, especially housing, in Latin America.

Those Dominican labor leaders whom I had known had to flee their own headquarters because it is on Avenida Mella --in the rebel zone.

There was much more to the swift conversation between Senor Leonard, who for three years has been the representative of the Inter-American Regional Organization of Workers (ORIT) and Mr. McLellan, who heads the AFL-CIO's Latin-American section. There had been many such transoceanic reports.

It is important to point out that these reports have come from labor sources, not from any political faction or from any military leaders there.

That is why the AFL-CIO high command issued a virtually ignored statement of principles on May 19 which supported U. S. intervention and said:

"The Executive Council, acting on reports from its own investigators on the spot, declares its unequivocal support of the measures, taken to date, by President Johnson to meet these critical situations."

These dispatches disclose conditions far more drastic than anything the White House has yet revealed.

It is the belief of Mr. McLellan and his labor colleagues that there are many scores of high ranking, skilled Communist operatives in the Dominican Republic now.

Furthermore, some of them have been in the U. S. and are accomplished Communist espionage agents. This accounts for the presence of an FBI team in Santo Domingo.

In addition, the Communist apparatus now is running guns and ammunition into the mountains in preparation for assaults on any provisional government set up by the OAS.

Also, the Communists now have heavily infiltrated unions (independent of "Conatral") and will exert powerful influence in such strategic areas as the sugar plantations, the ports, the construction industry and the government service--unless they are immediately rooted out.

There are three powerful pro-Communist forces now in the area identified as the rebel zone, according to the U. S. labor leaders. One is pro-Peking; a second is pro-Moscow and pro - Castro; a third is simply pro-Castro. The most powerful of these is the 14th of June Movement which has a sizeable union force ready for general strike action.

Having documented all this, the AFL-CIO Executive Council--though it went unnoticed--put itself on record the other day with the following:

"The crises in Viet Nam and Santo Domingo, though continents apart, are basically interrelated. They must be faced in the context of the entire world crisis.

"To date, Castro has made three attempts to intervene in Santo Domingo and foist a Communist dictatorship on the Dominican people.

"In Santo Domingo, as in Viet Nam, our country seeks only to thwart a new and most dangerous form of intervention by the fifth columns of Communist imperialism."

These are the words of men who lead 13 million American working people. In this context, what can be more significant?

Houston Setsback St. Louis With 6 to 1 Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ray Sadecki, the St. Louis Cardinals' 20-game winner last year who again got off to a slow start this year, will attempt to post his second victory tonight when he faces the Houston Astros.

He will be trying to place the Cardinals back in the victory column after their second defeat in 10 games Thursday night--a 6-1 setback in Houston.

But if the left-hander, who already has lost four games this season, fails again tonight, he may be sent to the bullpen. His 6.98 earned run average is the worst on the St. Louis staff.

Sadecki will face the Astros' Dave Giusti, who lost his last two starts after six straight victories.

Eddie Kasko's first - inning double, an infield out and Lee Maye's sacrifice fly put Houston out in front, 1-0, Thursday night. Then the Astros tallied two more in the next inning when Dick Groat threw wildly to first base.

Maye's double and Jim Wynn's home run helped wrap up the game in the three-run eighth inning. The Cardinals scored in the fifth on two-out singles by loser Ray Washburn, Bob Skinner and Groat.

The victory was Dick Farrell's fourth in five decisions.

The Kansas City A's, who were rained out Thursday at Baltimore, meet the Boston Red Sox tonight. Kansas City's Roland Sheldon 0-1 will face Boston's Jim Lonborg 3-2.

Foyt, Clark and Gurney Win Pole Position in 500

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Mr. James Clark, Jr., O.B.E., a gentleman farmer of Duns, Scotland, and A. J. Foyt Jr., one of America's most distinguished high school dropouts, will start hub-to-hub in the 49th 500-mile Memorial Day auto race Monday.

It will be a head-on clash of the top men in two fields — Clark, 29, of the world road racing circuit, Foyt, 30, of the U.S. Auto Club's closed courses.

Clark made the Order of the British Empire on the queen's last birthday honors list. All Foyt made was a quarter million dollars last year.

Beside them in the first row, earned by posting best speeds in two weekends of record-cracking time trials, will be handsome Dan Gurney, 34, international competitor from Costa Mesa, Calif.

Gurney not only is a strong contender but also is godfather of the three British - American hybrid cars which will lead the 33-car running start about 11 a.m., EST, Monday.

He promoted the original meeting of Colin Chapman of London, builder of the Lotus chassis, and Ford Motor Co. engineers, who provided a special V-8 engine.

The winner of the half-million-dollar race has come from the first two rows in four of the last five years. Foyt won from a fifth place start last year and from seventh in 1961.

Winner Rodger Ward, who missed the program this time, started second in 1962 and third in 1960.

Parnelli Jones, who will start fifth or middle of the second row this time, both started and finished in the first spot in 1963. He will sit between two outstanding newcomers Monday — Mario Andretti, native of Italy and now living in Nazareth, Pa., and Billy Foster of Victoria, B.C.

The track's 10-mile qualifying record was bettered by Andrettie, Clark and Foyt in the time trials but Foyt got it last at 161.233 m.p.h. Only the Scot and the USAC champion have ever turned laps over 160 at the 2½-mile speedway.

Clark, the 1963 world Grand Prix champion and No. 3 in the standings last year, finished only 33.84 seconds behind Jones in the controversial '63 Indianapolis race. Chapman tried to have Jones flagged off the course for spraying oil but officials refused.

BATTING -- Dick Schofield, Giants, drove in three runs with a double and a single in a 9-2 triumph over Cincinnati while lifting his average to .389 in five games for his new San Francisco teammates.

St. Louis Drops Missouri Out of NCAA Contention By Winning Doubleheader

ST. LOUIS AP -- St. Louis University won both ends of a doubleheader against the University of Missouri Thursday by identical scores of 5-4 to become the District 5 representative to the NCAA baseball tournament. The double victory gave St. Louis the best 2 out of 3 series.

St. Louis will meet other district winners in the NCAA World Series in Omaha June 6.

John Markham, St. Louis pitcher, struck out the last batter with the tying run on third base in the last of the ninth to win the first game.

Robben took the RBI crown with 23. Schreiner's 19 was second.

OSU's Fred Moulder was the home run champion with 6. Robben and Joe Windes tied with 3 triples. McGreevy's 9 doubles led the league, with Robben and teammate Mike Strode at 6 each. Ernie Recob of K-State had 7, Missouri's Ray Thorpe 6.

ARE YOU FULLY COVERED?

Our vacation trip was the best one yet but alas, homecoming was no fun. Vandals had broken in, turned on the water and turned off electricity. Both floors were a skating rink - not to mention broken glass. And adding insult to injury, a mustache had been painted on grandma's portrait. Does your new Homeowners policy cover all such damage?

Foyt, Clark and Gurney Win Pole Position in 500

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Mr. James Clark, Jr., O.B.E., a gentleman farmer of Duns, Scotland, and A. J. Foyt Jr., one of America's most distinguished high school dropouts, will start hub-to-hub in the 49th 500-mile Memorial Day auto race Monday.

It will be a head-on clash of the top men in two fields — Clark, 29, of the world road racing circuit, Foyt, 30, of the U.S. Auto Club's closed courses.

Clark made the Order of the British Empire on the queen's last birthday honors list. All Foyt made was a quarter million dollars last year.

Beside them in the first row, earned by posting best speeds in two weekends of record-cracking time trials, will be handsome Dan Gurney, 34, international competitor from Costa Mesa, Calif.

Gurney not only is a strong contender but also is godfather of the three British - American hybrid cars which will lead the 33-car running start about 11 a.m., EST, Monday.

He promoted the original meeting of Colin Chapman of London, builder of the Lotus chassis, and Ford Motor Co. engineers, who provided a special V-8 engine.

The winner of the half-million-dollar race has come from the first two rows in four of the last five years. Foyt won from a fifth place start last year and from seventh in 1961.

Winner Rodger Ward, who missed the program this time, started second in 1962 and third in 1960.

Parnelli Jones, who will start fifth or middle of the second row this time, both started and finished in the first spot in 1963. He will sit between two outstanding newcomers Monday — Mario Andretti, native of Italy and now living in Nazareth, Pa., and Billy Foster of Victoria, B.C.

The track's 10-mile qualifying record was bettered by Andrettie, Clark and Foyt in the time trials but Foyt got it last at 161.233 m.p.h. Only the Scot and the USAC champion have ever turned laps over 160 at the 2½-mile speedway.

Clark, the 1963 world Grand Prix champion and No. 3 in the standings last year, finished only 33.84 seconds behind Jones in the controversial '63 Indianapolis race. Chapman tried to have Jones flagged off the course for spraying oil but officials refused.

BATTING -- Dick Schofield, Giants, drove in three runs with a double and a single in a 9-2 triumph over Cincinnati while lifting his average to .389 in five games for his new San Francisco teammates.

St. Louis Drops Missouri Out of NCAA Contention By Winning Doubleheader

ST. LOUIS AP -- St. Louis University won both ends of a doubleheader against the University of Missouri Thursday by identical scores of 5-4 to become the District 5 representative to the NCAA baseball tournament. The double victory gave St. Louis the best 2 out of 3 series.

St. Louis will meet other district winners in the NCAA World Series in Omaha June 6.

John Markham, St. Louis pitcher, struck out the last batter with the tying run on third base in the last of the ninth to win the first game.

Missouri led 4-0 through seven innings of the second game. St. Louis scored twice in the eighth inning on two hits and a wild pitch by Orville Hollrah.

In the ninth inning, St. Louis scored 3 more runs. Dan Leahy tripled with two on and a squeeze play by Jim Murphy then drove in the winning run.

Joe Gegg, St. Louis catcher, homered in the first game and Dan Rudanovich smacked a round - tripper in the second game for Missouri, both coming with the bases empty.

Mizzou's Robben Wins Big 8 Batting Crown

Missouri's Bob Robben squeezed by defending champ Steve McGreevy of Kansas .443 to .437 for the Big Eight hitting championship by stroking four hits in five times up in his final game at Iowa State.

Dan Rudanovich of Missouri closed 5-for-5 and nearly caught the leaders. He finished at .435, with Kansas State's Stu Steele fourth at .400.

Nebraska sophomore Stan Bahnsen took the Big Eight pitching crown with a 1.44 earned run average, edging Tom Van Galder of Iowa State at 1.53. In won-lost, Bahsen led the league with 6-1.

A total of 14 other players hit .300 or better for the season.

Tony Sellari, Oklahoma State, had .389, Gene Stephenson of Missouri .360, Adrian Mohr of Colorado .328, Tony Stark of OSU .328, Larry Bornschlegl of Nebraska .321, Ron Cummins of Missouri .317, Dick Olsen of Iowa State .317, Jim Pace of Missouri .314, Dick Ruggles of Kansas .311, Steve Best of Colorado .308, Joe Beck of K-State .306, Carl Schreiner of Oklahoma .304, Jerry Retzlaff of Iowa State .302 and Jay Cronley of Oklahoma .300.

OSU's Dick Frank was third in ERA at 1.89. Gary Niebauer of Nebraska had 1.97, Bob Hergenrader of Nebraska 2.34, Mohr 2.61, Bob Ziegler of Iowa State 2.88, Orv Hollrah of Missouri 2.97 and Fred Chana of Kansas 3.15.

The versatile Mohr was sixth in the league in pitching, seventh in batting, tied for second with Schreiner on 5 homers and tied for third in runs batted in with 16. What's more he played third, first, pitch, all over the outfield and didn't make an error all season.

Robben took the RBI crown with 23. Schreiner's 19 was second.

OSU's Fred Moulder was the home run champion with 6. Robben and Joe Windes tied with 3 triples. McGreevy's 9 doubles led the league, with Robben and teammate Mike Strode at 6 each. McGreevy and Robben tied for first in hits at 31. In runs scored, Rudanovich was far in front with 24. Jack Price of Colorado won the stolen base crown over Retzlaff, 13-11. Ernie Recob of K-State had 7, Missouri's Ray Thorpe 6.

ARE YOU FULLY COVERED?

Our vacation trip was the best one yet but alas, homecoming was no fun. Vandals had broken in, turned on the water and turned off electricity. Both floors were a skating rink - not to mention broken glass. And adding insult to injury, a mustache had been painted on grandma's portrait. Does your new Homeowners policy cover all such damage?

YOU MAY PAY MORE BUT YOU CAN'T BUY BETTER THAN AN A.R.A. CHAIRMAN AUTO AIR CONDITIONER

A.R.A.'s double blower CHAIRMAN fills a category all by itself. Superb styling merely hints at the brilliant performance the unit provides at fingertip touch. The CHAIRMAN fills your car with a coolness as refreshing as the oceanside. Road noises dim away. The A.R.A. shield illuminates to let you know when the CHAIRMAN is in operation... it turns off automatically and then comes on again to maintain the even temperature you want. If you insist on quality but like economy, too, don't miss trying a test ride with the A.R.A. CHAIRMAN this week.

Malden Okays Power Pact

MALDEN — An ordinance approving a contract and agreement for interchange of electric power and for joining use and occupancy of facilities by and between Malden and Missouri Utilities Company has been approved by the City Council.

The Missouri Utilities Company for several years has provided additional electric power as needed at the Malden Industrial Park and Airport. The electric power has been purchased by the board of public works, which operates the Malden Municipal power plant.

The ordinance as approved provides for the building by Missouri Utilities Company of a 34,500-volt electric transmission pole line, and its use by Malden, and granting unto Missouri Utilities the right to set its poles, lines and fixtures on, and to occupy, certain streets, alleys and public grounds in Malden.

This agreement is being made with Missouri Utilities Company so that Malden will have an adequate source of electric power over and above what is generated at the municipal plant.

The transmission line would run from its existing lines near Malden Industrial Park to a substation of the City of Malden which is to be located at or near the present power plant.

Science cannot solve the ultimate mystery of nature. And that is because, in the last analysis, we ourselves are part of nature and therefore part of the mystery that we are trying to solve.

Malden Okays Power Pact

MALDEN — An ordinance approving a contract and agreement for interchange of electric power and for joining use and occupancy of facilities by and between Malden and Missouri Utilities Company has been approved by the City Council.

The Missouri Utilities Company for several years has provided additional electric power as needed at the Malden Industrial Park and Airport. The electric power has been purchased by the board of public works, which operates the Malden Municipal power plant.

The ordinance as approved provides for the building by Missouri Utilities Company of a 34,500-volt electric transmission pole line, and its use by Malden, and granting unto Missouri Utilities the right to set its poles, lines and fixtures on, and to occupy, certain streets, alleys and public grounds in Malden.

This agreement is being made with Missouri Utilities Company so that Malden will have an adequate source of electric power over and above what is generated at the municipal plant.

The transmission line would run from its existing lines near Malden Industrial Park to a substation of the City of Malden which is to be located at or near the present power plant.

SEMO Counties Get $893,238 In Gas Taxes

Southeast Missouri counties have received $893,238.91 in the past three years under the Missouri gas tax program which has produced $286,480,771.05 for the state's road and highways, according to information released today by the Missouri Oil Council. This plan has yielded over $46 million more than voters were promised when they approved the program in 1962.

During the three-year period Dunklin County has received $134,080.04.

Stoddard County leads among the eight SeMo counties in total allocation for three years.

The total allocation for this county during this period was $149,180.70.

Here are the allocations by counties in Southeast Missouri. The first figure represents March, 1965 allocations which were placed in each county's special account in May, 1965. The second figure shows the accumulative amount credited to each county in the three year period. The third shows the balance each county had up to May 11, 1965.

Mississippi--$2,167.66, $76,-377.09 and $9,415.98.

New Madrid -- $4,639.00, $139,933.02 and $26,065.16.

Pemiscot --$3,478.53, $124,-406.44 and $18,241.44.

The 114 counties of Missouri had $348,967.18 placed in their accounts of the County Aid Road Trust (CART) fund in mid-May hiking their three year total to $12,398,551.50. This was $398,-551.50 more than the tax was expected to yield.

The state gasoline tax dollar is divided with 80 per cent of the receipts going to the State Highway Department, 15 per cent to incorporated cities with more than 200 population; and the remaining five per cent to the counties. Costs of collections and refunds are shared on an identical ratio.

Q—How much does the Washington monument weigh?

NO LAUGHING MATTER -- Beards, lanky hair, and unkempt clothes and bodies characterized many of the demonstrators protesting the hearings of the House Un-American Activities Committee in Chicago. A passing demonstrator, in a far-out costume, brought smiles to newsmen covering the hearings. About 20 of the protesters have been arrested. The committee is holding hearings on Communist activity in the Chicago area.

If it's all right to fib out of a parking ticket, what's wrong about a fib in school?

And does our national record on income tax day entitle us to look in horror at the epidemic of college cheating?

Most of us learned once what's right. We learned the firm principles held by our families and our Faith. Now it's a question of how well we're teaching our children.

SEMO Counties Get $893,238 In Gas Taxes

Southeast Missouri counties have received $893,238.91 in the past three years under the Missouri gas tax program which has produced $286,480,771.05 for the state's road and highways, according to information released today by the Missouri Oil Council. This plan has yielded over $46 million more than voters were promised when they approved the program in 1962.

During the three-year period Dunklin County has received $134,080.04.

Stoddard County leads among the eight SeMo counties in total allocation for three years.

The total allocation for this county during this period was $149,180.70.

Here are the allocations by counties in Southeast Missouri. The first figure represents March, 1965 allocations which were placed in each county's special account in May, 1965. The second figure shows the accumulative amount credited to each county in the three year period. The third shows the balance each county had up to May 11, 1965.

Mississippi--$2,167.66, $76,377.09 and $9,415.98.

New Madrid -- $4,639.00, $139,933.02 and $26,065.16.

Pemiscot --$3,478.53, $124,406.44 and $18,241.44.

Scott -- $2,254.04, $77,430.41 and $15,089.54.

The 114 counties of Missouri had $348,967.18 placed in their accounts of the County Aid Road Trust (CART) fund in mid-May hiking their three year total to $12,398,551.50. This was $398,551.50 more than the tax was expected to yield.

The state gasoline tax dollar is divided with 80 per cent of the receipts going to the State Highway Department, 15 per cent to incorporated cities with more than 200 population; and the remaining five per cent to the counties. Costs of collections and refunds are shared on an identical ratio.

A—81,120 tons.

NO LAUGHING MATTER -- Beards, lanky hair, and unkempt clothes and bodies characterized many of the demonstrators protesting the hearings of the House Un-American Activities Committee in Chicago. A passing demonstrator, in a far-out costume, brought smiles to newsmen covering the hearings. About 20 of the protesters have been arrested. The committee is holding hearings on Communist activity in the Chicago area.

Monday Deadline For Ballots

BENTON--Monday at 5 p.m. is the final date for receiving ballots at the county clerk's office for the election of supervisors for the soil and water district of Scott county. The ballots for this election, together with voting instructions, were mailed to each farm owner within the areas voting of Commerce and Kelso Twonships--Area I and Morley and Richland Townships--Area III in Scott County May 19. Those who have not already mailed in their vote should do so on or before Saturday so it will be counted when the polls close at 5 p.m. Monday.

Eligible voters not receiving ballots can secure them from supervisors or Tom B. Stroup, Secretary, in Benton.

The ballots can be returned by mail without the addition of a postage stamp. All that is necessary is to put an "X" in the square in front of the name of the nominee for the area in which the farm you own or represent is located, and mail the ballot in the "Business Reply Envelope" so it will arrive at the County Clerk's Office in Benton on or before Monday at 4:30 p.m.

Only those who own or have power of attorney on a farm within the area from which the supervisors are nominated are eligible to vote. Each farm is entitled to one vote either by the owner or by a taxpayer in the district to whom the owner has issued a power of attorney.

All eligible voters must cast their vote for a supervisor nominated from the area in which the farm they own or represent is located. The supervisors nominated for each area are as follows: Only one person in each area to be elected: Roby Hitt, Franklin Schlosser and Vincent Miller for Area I which includes Commerce and Kelso townships; John Engram, Louis Watkins and J. Monday Deadline For Ballots

BENTON--Monday at 5 p.m. is the final date for receiving ballots at the county clerk's office for the election of supervisors for the soil and water district of Scott county. The ballots for this election, together with voting instructions, were mailed to each farm owner within the areas voting of Commerce and Kelso Twonships--Area I and Morley and Richland Townships--Area III in Scott County May 19. Those who have not already mailed in their vote should do so on or before Saturday so it will be counted when the polls close at 5 p.m. Monday.

Eligible voters not receiving ballots can secure them from supervisors or Tom B. Stroup, Secretary, in Benton.

The ballots can be returned by mail without the addition of a postage stamp. All that is necessary is to put an "X" in the square in front of the name of the nominee for the area in which the farm you own or represent is located, and mail the ballot in the "Business Reply Envelope" so it will arrive at the County Clerk's Office in Benton on or before Monday at 4:30 p.m.

Only those who own or have power of attorney on a farm within the area from which the supervisors are nominated are eligible to vote. Each farm is entitled to one vote either by the owner or by a taxpayer in the district to whom the owner has issued a power of attorney.

All eligible voters must cast their vote for a supervisor nominated from the area in which the farm they own or represent is located. The supervisors nominated for each area are as follows: Only one person in each area to be elected: Roby Hitt, Franklin Schlosser and Vincent Miller for Area I which includes Commerce and Kelso townships; John Engram, Louis Watkins and J. W. Abernathy for Area 3 which includes Morley and Richland townships.

PRAYER
For Today From The Upper Room

FRIDAY, MAY 28, 1965

I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou shouldest keep them from the evil. (John 17:15)

PRAYER: O God, our heavenly Father, we pray that we may have the courage and the desire ever to live in the world as Thy children redeemed by Thy Son Jesus Christ. Give us strength to overcome every temptation to become worldy while living in the world. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

See everything, overlook a great deal, correct little.
---Pope John XXIII

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from "Bitter 16" told how selfish most teen-age boys are —how they chase the two or three good-lookers while the plain girls sit home, dateless and miserable.

Not ALL teen-age boys are that way. A few months ago I had an experience that proved it.

My hobby is photography. I was asked to run the photo concession at a prom. The big problem was the repeaters — those who kept coming back again and again.

One young ruggedly handsome fellow kept returning with a different girl every 20 minutes. I finally said, "You've had about 10 pictures taken, aren't you overdoing it?" He gave me a wink as he handed me his quarter.

A few minutes later he came back alone and whispered, "If you don't mind I'd like to bring a few more gals over. Some of the girls don't have dates tonight and I'd like to see that they have at least a souvenir picture."

This chap had been seeking out the wall-flowers and paying for the pictures himself. Sweet? — RENEWED FAITH

Dear Renewed: You bet! I always knew there were such teen-agers around but I'm glad to let millions of others know it, too.

Dear Ann Landers: Vera and I are successful, middle-aged, unmarried career people. We've often congratulated each other on the joys of freedom.

Last night we discussed marriage as a "sporting proposition." We both know couples who, when their marriage failed, tore each other apart in the divorce court.

We are considering marriage with the understanding that if things don't work out we will meet in a lawyer's office, shake hands, sign the papers and part company in a civilized manner. There would be no settlement or alimony jazz.

What do you think of this? —MATURE

Dear Mat: Not much. If you are interested in a "sporting proposition," why not bet on the Irish Sweepstakes and let it go at that?

Marriage is a promise to love and cherish one another for so long as you both shall live. It is not an agreement that you will stay together as long as she has her figure, or as long as you have your bankroll — or until somebody more attractive comes along.

Unless you two view marriage as a permanent arrangement — a heavy emotional investment, well worth the agony of learning to live together — you'd better stay single and save the court costs.

Dear Ann Landers: Both my husband and I teach. For several years summer school has kept us from enjoying a real vacation. This summer we want to take a two-month trip.

Yesterday my husband's mother announced that she'd like to join us. She is financially independent and will pay her own way. My husband said, "If mother comes along the trip will be ruined. I'd rather stay home."

My husband's two married sisters who live in this city go off on vacations very suddenly. We never know they are going until we get a post card from 800 miles away. I'm sure they disappear quietly to avoid unwanted company.

I don't want to hurt my mother-in-law's feelings. What should be done? — NINE O'CLOCK BELLE

Dear Belle: Your husband should tell his mother that you have been looking forward to this "second honeymoon" and you want it to be just that.

Feeling as you do, if your mother-in-law is permitted to blast her way into your vacation you will all wish you'd have stayed home.

Liquor can ruin your mind, your body and your life. To learn the booby-traps of teen-age drinking, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Dear Mr. Blanton:

The Bulldog Barker staff wishes to thank you and your employees for the use of your facilities in the printing of our high school publication.

Not only have we thoroughly enjoyed the many hours spent at the Standard this past year, but the educational value of this experience will assist us in various ways in the future.

Both you and your staff were very patient during the numerous trying hours we spent putting out our weekly edition.

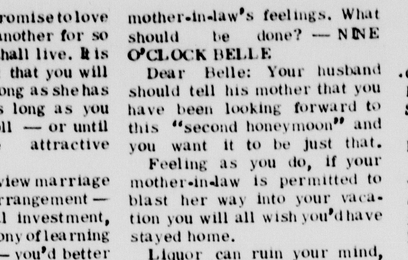

Thank you again, Mr. Blanton, for giving us the chance of editing a better paper for the student body of Sikeston high school. We are very appreciative for this opportunity.

PRAYER
For Today From The Upper Room

FRIDAY, MAY 28, 1965

I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou shouldest keep them from the evil. (John 17:15)

PRAYER: O God, our heavenly Father, we pray that we may have the courage and the desire ever to live in the world as Thy children redeemed by Thy Son Jesus Christ. Give us strength to overcome every temptation to become worldy while living in the world. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

See everything, overlook a great deal, correct little.
---Pope John XXIII

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from "Bitter 16" told how selfish most teen-age boys are —how they chase the two or three good-lookers while the plain girls sit home, dateless and miserable.

Not ALL teen-age boys are that way. A few months ago I had an experience that proved it.

My hobby is photography. I was asked to run the photo concession at a prom. The big problem was the repeaters — those who kept coming back again and again.

One young ruggedly handsome fellow kept returning with a different girl every 20 minutes. I finally said, "You've had about 10 pictures taken, aren't you overdoing it?" He gave me a wink as he handed me his quarter.

A few minutes later he came back alone and whispered, "If you don't mind I'd like to bring a few more gals over. Some of the girls don't have dates tonight and I'd like to see that they have at least a souvenir picture."

This chap had been seeking out the wall-flowers and paying for the pictures himself. Sweet? — RENEWED FAITH

Dear Renewed: You bet! I always knew there were such teen-agers around but I'm glad to let millions of others know it, too.

Dear Ann Landers: Vera and I are successful, middle-aged, unmarried career people. We've often congratulated each other on the joys of freedom.

Last night we discussed marriage as a "sporting proposition." We both know couples who, when their marriage failed, tore each other apart in the divorce court.

We are considering marriage with the understanding that if things don't work out we will meet in a lawyer's office, shake hands, sign the papers and part company in a civilized manner. There would be no settlement or alimony jazz.

What do you think of this? —MATURE

Dear Mat: Not much. If you are interested in a "sporting proposition," why not bet on the Irish Sweepstakes and let it go at that?

Marriage is a promise to love and cherish one another for so long as you both shall live. It is not an agreement that you will stay together as long as she has her figure, or as long as you have your bankroll — or until somebody more attractive comes along.

Unless you two view marriage as a permanent arrangement — a heavy emotional investment, well worth the agony of learning to live together — you'd better stay single and save the court costs.

Dear Ann Landers: Both my husband and I teach. For several years summer school has kept us from enjoying a real vacation. This summer we want to take a two-month trip.

Yesterday my husband's mother announced that she'd like to join us. She is financially independent and will pay her own way. My husband said, "If mother comes along the trip will be ruined. I'd rather stay home."

My husband's two married sisters who live in this city go off on vacations very suddenly. We never know they are going until we get a post card from 800 miles away. I'm sure they disappear quietly to avoid unwanted company.

I don't want to hurt my mother-in-law's feelings. What should be done? — NINE O'CLOCK BELLE

Dear Belle: Your husband should tell his mother that you have been looking forward to this "second honeymoon" and you want it to be just that.

Feeling as you do, if your mother-in-law is permitted to blast her way into your vacation you will all wish you'd have stayed home.

Liquor can ruin your mind, your body and your life. To learn the booby-traps of teen-age drinking, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Ten years ago—British Railway locomotive engineers and firemen went on strike for higher pay.

Five years ago —A military junta headed by Lt. Gen. Cemal Gursel formed a temporary government for Turkey.

One year ago—Thousands of Indians jammed New Delhi streets as the body of Prime Minister Nehru was borne to the banks of the Jumna River for cremation.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, May 28, the 148th day of 1965. There are 217 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date

In 1866, the 4th Wisconsin Cavalry Regiment was mustered out of service after five years and one day. It was the longest term on record for a volunteer organization.

In 1940, the evacuation of Dunkerque began.

In 1945, U.S. Superforts made their first raid on Yokohama, Japan.

Ten years ago—British Railway locomotive engineers and firemen went on strike for higher pay.

One year ago—Thousands of Indians jammed New Delhi streets as the body of Prime Minister Nehru was borne to the banks of the Jumna River for cremation.

He said they had "additional help and a deeper cause."

The President associated the "deeper cause" with areas where the poor and the oppressed find difficulty entering the gates of opportunity.

In this situation, he said, the United States must try to "narrow the gap between the rich nations and the poor — and between the right people and the poor within each nation."

Johnson called this "the heart of the purpose of the United States."

In urging new international machinery, Johnson gave no details of what he had in mind.

However, it was believed he felt that the multination force now trying to keep peace and promote stability in the Dominican Republic might serve as a precedent for inter-American efforts if other nations face similar upheavals.

Johnson emphasized that "for the first time in history the Organization of American States has created and sent to the soil of an American nation an international peacekeeping force."

He said "that may be the greatest achievement of all."

Johnson reported that "the broad outlines of a reasonable settlement are beginning to emerge" in the Dominican Republic." He said these outlines meet the needs and desires of the Dominican people and the entire hemisphere.

In detailing these items, Johnson said that first of all, "the Dominican people — and the people of their sister republics — do not want government by extremists of either the left or the right."

He said everyone also seeks "an end to slaughter in the streets," food and work and peaceful nights, a constitutional government, and for the Dominicans, the chance to shape their own course with help from "sympathetic neighbors in healing their wounds and negotiating their divisions."

The President flew to his native Texas Thursday night for his first weekend visit in six weeks. Before flying to Waco and the university, Johnson arranged to participate in the unveiling of a full-length presidential portrait in the Texas Senate chamber at Austin.

In remarks prepared for that occasion, Johnson recalled that his father, Sam Ealy Johnson, served for 12 years as a member of the Texas Legislature early in the century.

"Here at my father's side," he said, "I was first exposed to the strength, the vitality and the enduring value of our system of representative democracy."

The President expressed the belief that this system, both politically and economically, "is succeeding as never before."

My interest in young people is in rumpling their brains as you might rumple a good head of hair.

Maybe the number of Chryslers we've sold this year won't interest you—but we bet our prices will.

CIDAA

Understand this: If you can afford a smaller car, you can afford a Chrysler. Prices start just a few dollars a month more than the most popular smaller cars, comparably equipped. And, that means you get power steering, power brakes, automatic transmission, radio, heater and V-8 engine. We call that value — it's one reason we're having such a great sales year. Move up to Chrysler today!
